Government Orders Tax Liens On Al Capone Property

WILL TIE UP HOLDINGS OF GANG LEADER

Internal Revenue Bureau Seeks to Satisfy Back Taxes of Over $200,000

SEEKS FORFEITURE

Tax Liabilities, Covering Period of Years, Said To Be Greatly Higher

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(UP)—The Internal Revenue bureau today ordered collectors at Chicago and Jacksonville to take tax liens on property of Alphonse Capone to satisfy $225,000 in back taxes due the government.

The order was to take liens on Capone's property wherever located. This will tie up the gangster's holdings and enable the government to go into court and seek forfeiture.

The figure was fixed low, at $225,000 in order that the government may easily secure forfeiture. Capone's tax liabilities, covering a period of years, are estimated by the bureau at far above this figure, but proof is difficult.

It was a special corps of agents of the Internal Revenue bureau, directed by Elmer Irey, chief of the intelligence division, which over a two-year period ferreted out the hidden wealth of the Chicago gangster and secured the indictment on evasion of income taxes which resulted in his conviction three days ago.

SEEK LOS ANGELES WOMAN IN TRUNK MURDER

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20.—(UP)—Police today sought Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd, 27-year-old wife of a Los Angeles physician, as the slayer of two women whose bodies were found jammed in two trunks and a suitcase in the Southern Pacific railroad station here.

One of the bodies, that of Hedvig Samuelson, 20, an invalid school teacher had been dissected, apparently by an expert. Parts of it were found in each trunk, and in the suitcase.

The other body, uncut, was that of Mrs. Agnes Lerol, 35, an x-ray nurse, who had been Miss Samuelson's roommate at Phoenix, Ariz.

The baggage containing the gruesome evidence of the slayings had been shipped here from Phoenix.

After hours of questioning, D. J. McKinnell, 30, brother of Mrs. Judd, told police his sister had confessed the killings to him, yesterday, declaring she had "a good reason."

Description Broadcast

A description of the woman was broadcast and railroad detectives along an eastern bound Southern Pacific train wired from Yuma that two women, one believed to be Mrs. Judd, were locked in a compartment on the train, having refused to admit the detectives.

When the train reached Phoenix, however, a thorough search failed to reveal the presence of Mrs. Judd. When this clue proved valueless the hunt swung to Beverly Glen canyon, near Los Angeles, where young McKinnell owns a cabin.

Officers found that the cabin had been occupied within the last few hours and that a quantity of pie and sandwiches had been eaten there. Remnants of the food were still fresh, McKinnell denied he had been there recently.

Discovery of the slayings came when A. V. Anderson, baggage-master at the station noticed blood trickling from one of the trunks.

Suspecting that it contained dead meat, shipped contrary to game laws, he notified railroad detectives.

Ask For Trunks

A few hours later a well-dressed young woman, accompanied by a youth, later identified by McKinnell as his sister and himself, called at the baggage room and presented checks for the trunks.

Told by the detectives she would have to open them, the woman asserted that her husband had the keys and she would get them and return. She was allowed to leave.

A few hours later the odor from the trunks became offensive and police were called. The trunks were thrown open and the bruised and mutilated bodies were discovered.

The smaller of the two trunks contained the battered face and nude torso of the younger woman. She had been shot through the head, heart and left arm.

In the second trunk the body of the older woman, clothed only in an undergarment was found. Beneath it were the lower portions of the younger girl's legs.

At midnight a negro maid found the suitcase in the women's rest room at the station. In it was the

HOOVER GIVEN NEW VIEWPOINT AFTER CRUISE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(UP)—President Hoover, returning to Washington after a week-end aboard his battleship en route to the Yorktown sesquicentennial, brought back today a new impression of the navy which may have a bearing on the current budget dispute.

Three nights at sea and his dual review of the destroyer and scout fleet gave him an impressive knowledge of the navy viewpoint.

He mingled continuously with high naval officers, including Secretary of Navy Adams, who joined the ship at Yorktown last night. While the budget may not have been discussed, all members of the president's party were impressed by the great navy show.

Mr. Hoover, in effecting his economy program, ordered $81,000,000 slashed from the navy's budget. Naval officials sought to lessen this figure, and the matter is being arbitrated by Budget Director Reop and a budget officer of the navy department. Undoubtedly the president's week-end trip will result in further conferences between Mr. Hoover and Adams.

It is possible the trip may make for better understanding between the White House and the department, bringing a satisfactory solution of a problem which appeared remote when the president left.

Mr. Hoover and 60,000 other spectators looked on yesterday at the surrender of Lord Cornwallis to George Washington in 1781 was re-enacted at Yorktown.

The scene inspired Mr. Hoover to urge the nation of today to emulate the sturdy colonists of revolutionary times and to have faith in the future of the country.

FREIGHT RATE BOOST DENIED BY COMMISSION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(UP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today denied the railroads the right to impose 15 per cent rate increases throughout their rate schedules, but authorized additional charges for the carriage of specified commodities and for certain services.

The suggestion was made by the Commission that "in consideration of existing circumstances and in the interest of the preservation of an adequate system of transportation specific increases in rates upon designated commodities for limited period would be conditioned upon the submission and approval of arrangements between the carriers for the pooling of the revenue accruing from the suggested increases so as to enable the carriers to make their fixed interest payments as they accrue."

Increase of $3 per car were permitted upon the following commodities: Anthracite coal, bituminous coal, coke, iron ore, copper ore and concentrates, lead ore and concentrates, zinc ore and concentrates, pulp wood, lumber, shingles and lath.

No increases were permitted on the products of agriculture, including wheat and cotton.

Increases of $8 per car were permitted on pig iron, flat iron, crude petroleum and asphalt.

The Commission decided that there could be an increase of one per cent per 100 pounds on cotton seed meal and cake, oranges and ripe fruits, lemons and citrus fruits, cantaloupes and melons, watermelons and dried fruits and vegetables.

All switching charges may be increased 10 per cent subject to the exception that in the Chicago switching district charges shall not exceed the rate prescribed in a case pending but where the rates have not become effective.

The decision was written as a majority opinion and there was no dissent except for Commissioner Tate, who dissented only in a minor particular.

"The theater owners and the operators shook hands with each other and then both groups shook hands with me," said State Attorney John A. Swanson, who effected the compromise between independent movie house owners and lock-out union projector operators.

Announcement of the compromise came shortly after Mayor Anton J. Cermak declared that unless the bombing stopped he would shut down every theater in the city just as in case of a serious epidemic.

Details of the agreement were not announced pending another meeting today of owners, operators, and officials.

It was understood the operators agreed to accept a 20 per cent reduction in wages and owners agreed to discharge all nonunion operators imported in August from New York to replace the local men.

The theater war started over refusal of owners to hire two operators for every theater. The operators' salaries were from $75 to $150 a week. Owners declared two operators were not needed.

Hopes of Direct Dealings Between China and Japan Believed Possible

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(UP)—Secretary of State Stimson today sent identical notes to China and Japan reminding them of their obligations under the Kellogg anti-war pact to maintain the peace.

Stimson acted after French Foreign Minister Briand had notified him through the French embassy that Great Britain, France, Italy, Spain and Germany had invoked the anti-war pact in pleas to Japan and China.

TOKIO, Oct. 20.—(UP)—China has asked both France and Great Britain to send troops into Manchuria, and has been refused, the government was informed today.

Kenichi Yoshizawa, Japan's representative at the league of nations council in Geneva, told cabinet authorities here that the information was given him by Aristide Briand of France, president of the council.

Briand said that China desired troops sent to Shanhaiwan, Manchuria, to prevent further clashes between Japanese and Chinese forces. The league council is now meeting in an attempt to conciliate the opposing nations.

Tokyo authorities said they understood that the United States has the right under the Boxer treaty to send troops to Shanhaiwan.

Yoshizawa said he presented Japan's five demands for a settlement of the Manchurian issue and that President Briand informed him the council was willing to undertake the task of securing China's acceptance to all but the fourth.

This demand was that China cooperate with the Japanese owned South Manchurian railway in eliminating ruinous competition and in respecting all commitments for long term leaseholds.

It was understood that Japan continued to demand that China accept this point as well as the other four, which include a pledge of mutual non-aggression, suppression of anti-Japanese propaganda in China, mutual respect for territorial integrity and the protection of foreign interests.

ROB TAXI DRIVER AFTER KIDNAPING

SAN JOSE, Oct. 20.—(UP)—Five men who kidnaped and robbed James Henry, a taxi driver, of $25 were sought today. Henry was approached in the Southern Pacific station by a well-dressed man who asked him to drive to a certain address, he told police. At that address two other men were picked up, and later two more. The five ordered Henry to drive to Alviso where they bound him, took $25 and drove away in the cab. The machine was later found tion of Japanese nationals intervening in Manchuria.

Japan's demands for direct settlement which she insists must be accepted before she will withdraw troops in Manchuria were being opposed by Foreign Minister Baron Shideham.
And official reports from the Canton government were that a new foreign minister was prepared to open direct negotiations.
The government received notification from the Japanese consul at Canton that Eugene Chen, Foreign Minister of the Canton government, informed the consul he was succeeding C. T. Wang as Chinese foreign minister and would be prepared for direct negotiations.

If the report is true, it means that Canton and Nanking have called off preparations for civil war to co-operate in the Manchurian settlement. Officials here withheld comment until receiving confirmation of the report from Nanking, capital of the Nationalist government of President Chiang Kai-Shek.

Wang resigned recently after students attacked him at the foreign office.

The Japanese demands for direct negotiations with China, to be submitted to the French, British, and United States governments, are:

1. Mutual non-aggression.
2. Suppression of anti-Japanese propaganda in China, particularly in schools.
3. Mutual respect for territorial integrity.
4. That China respect treaty agreements, including the right of the South Manchurian railway for elimination of ruinous railway competition.
5. Protection of Japanese Nationals' rights in Manchuria.

missing portion of Miss Samuelson's body.

SCENE OF MURDER FOUND IN PHOENIX

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 20.—(UP)—
A home in a fine residential section of the city was revealed today as the scene of the murder of Mrs. Agnes Ann Lerol and Miss Hedvick Samuelson, whose bodies were found in two trunks and a suitcase in Los Angeles yesterday.

Miss Samuelson, a school teacher who had come here to recuperate from tuberculosis, and Mrs.
Lerol, an X-Ray nurse at the Grunow clinic, had been living together for the past year since their arrival from Juneau, Alaska, police learned.

Authorities were at a loss to account for a motive for the double slaying.
A lengthy search of the premises disclosed several blood stains on the floor, and a piece had been cut from a rug and burned in the fireplace. Otherwise, the apartment was in immaculate condition.
Mrs. Lerol and Miss Samuelson were last seen together at 9:45
p. m. Friday, neighbors told police.

Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd who has been sought on suspicion of the murders, also was employed at the Grunow clinic as secretary to a physician.
Authorities learned that a woman answering Mrs. Judd's description checked two trunks at the Southern Pacific station Sunday afternoon, signing the name of Ruth Judd to the claim checks and directing them to D. J. McKinnell in Los Angeles. McKinnell later was identified as Mrs. Judd's brother.

After the trunks had been sent, station agents noticed a small pool of blood on the floor, but did not connect the incident until questioned today.

Mrs. Lerol had been working here under an assumed name, police learned. She was a friend of Hugh Incle, Portland, Ore., aviator, during her training school period at Good Samaritan hospital, Portland and, he informed authorities, he knew her as Agnes Ann Imiah.
A photograph bearing Incle's name was found among Mrs. Lerol's effects.

Later she went to Juneau, Alaska, where she married Leroy Smith, he said. Police believed that her legal name was Agnes Ann Smith.

Mrs. Lerol, hospital records showed, was 27 years of age and a native of Tillamook, Ore. Miss Samuelson was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Samuelson of White Earth, N. D. She was 25 years of age and a graduate of North Dakota state Normal school at Minot, N. D.

WOLF AT DOOR SHOT

THREE RIVERS, Calif.—When times go so hard here that a wolf actually came to the door of Ernest Roberts' soft drink stand, three miles south of here, Roberts picked up his shotgun and killed the animal with one shot. Then he wound it wasn't a wolf, but an overgrown coyote, made bold by hunger.

GANGSTER IN TROUBLE

Philip D'Andrea, left, who was arrested at the close of a session of the trial of Al Capone, and held without bond in a Chicago jail to face a possible contempt of court charge when a gun was found on him, is shown above with the Chicago gang lord. D'Andrea is known as Capone's bodyguard.

Good Attendance At Recreational Institute Here

How to conduct group parties, school activities, folk games and other social affairs is to be shown to leaders of young peoples work in the series of free programs of the recreational institute being held at the Santa Ana high school gymnasium this week. Robert K.
Murray, representative of the National Recreational association, is directing the program.

The first meeting, held last night was attended by 156 leaders from over the county. Because this series is the only institute that will be presented in Orange county, many are coming here from points at a distance.

Two programs daily will be given today, tomorrow and Thursday. The afternoon program at 4 o'clock will make a study of methods of handling school activities and the evening program at 7:30 o'clock will treat with the progressive party.

For Wednesday afternoon, playground activities will be studied, and the evening will be turned over to boys activities.

On Thursday, the final day of the institute, folk games will be conducted in the afternoon and social programs suitable for church or P. T. A. circles will be held in the evening.

Members Urged To Make Reservations For C. of C. Dinner

Members of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce who are planning to attend the dinner meeting tomorrow night are urged to make their reservations not later than noon tomorrow. George Raymer, secretary of the chamber, said that it is imperative that all reservations be in at that time.
The dinner will be served at 6:30
p. m. in Santa Ana cafe and Colvin
K. Brown, manager of the organization department, Chamber of Commerce of the United States, will be the principal speaker. Paul Clagstone, of the western division,
United States Chamber of Commerce, will also be a guest and deliver a short talk.
Brown will discuss the present economic situation and give the national viewpoint. He is a particularly capable speaker as he annually travels more than 50,000 miles and is in touch with affairs in every section of the United States.

$20,370 Sought In Damage Suit

Frank and Julia Hess, of Silver Acres, were seeking today to recover $20,370 from George M. Smith and Alice Smith, of Yorba Linda, in the trial before a jury in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court of a lawsuit based on an automobile accident at the intersection of Richfield road and Buena Vista street on December 25, 1930, in which Mrs. Hess was injured. She suffered a fractured left clavicle and other injuries.
The defense claimed contributory negligence of the plaintiffs was the partial cause of the mishap.

EAGLE SCOUTS PLAN TO ASSIST TROOPS

Big brother relations with the Boy Scout troops of the county are to be assumed by the members of the Gorgonio tribe, it was decided at the monthly meeting held Camp Purinton, Santa Ana. Plans last night for a steak bake at for the fall activities were outlined.

The boys of the tribe, all Eagle scouts, are volunteering their services to act as instructors or hike leaders for county troops.

In general charge of the program is Albert Spencer, chief of the tribe. Spencer is also arranging for demonstration programs before county service clubs. Assisting him are Alex Lowe, William Spurgeon and "Snub" Andrews.

Cross Complaint Nets Wife Decree

Mrs. Marcella V. Beeman, of Sacramento, was awarded an interlocutory decree of divorce from Joseph T. Beeman, of Huntington Beach, late yesterday by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel. Beeman had brought suit against his wife on grounds of desertion and she had countered with a cross complaint on the same grounds in which she also accused him of cruelty and association with other women.

In his decision, Judge Scovel said he was awarding the decree to Mrs. Beeman on the desertion charge and that evidence presented did not warrant issuing the decree on the basis of her other charges.
The couple married in 1906 and separated in 1921, according to Beeman's complaint, filed through Attorney L. W. Blodgett, of Santa Ana. John Martell, Santa Ana attorney, was counsel for Mrs. Be-man.

Three Jailed For Stealing Walnuts

Three men, arrested early yesterday morning on charges of petty theft in connection with the theft of walnuts from the ranch of F. P.
Rowland, 810 South McClay street, were given jail sentences in the Santa Ana police court today.
Leroy Andrews, negro, was sentenced to 90 days, and Kenneth Wilkinson, and Charles E. Miller, who said they were leeches from Omaha, were given 10 days in jail.

Tells Conditions In Rural Mexico

While Mexico is the richest nation in the world for its area, the native population in the rural districts is in the most abject poverty, it was pointed out by Mrs.
John Tessmann, Santa Ana Junior college teacher, who told of her impressions on a trip through Mexico this summer before the first session of the school of world friendship at the First Baptist church Sunday evening. The restoration of the communal lands to the native Indians has been the purpose of the recent revolutions,
Mrs. Tessmann said.

PILOTS' GROUP TOLD OF AIR DEVELOPMENTS

Members of the Eddie Martin Airport Pilots' association and guests met last night at dinner in the Green Cat cafe for the regular monthly meeting, the first gathering since June.

During the dinner an entertainment program was presented by Dale Decker, which featured Odessa and Sunny, the Harmony Girls from radio station KREG, and Lynwood Young, also a KREG artist.
The Harmony Girls sang several numbers and Young, in addition to singing several request numbers, closed his program with a tap dance.

R. H. Drake, in charge of the ground school at the airport presided during the dinner.

S. W. Hamilton of the Curtis-Wright Flying Service, Los Angeles, made a brief talk in which he said that he has never heard of any organization similar to the Eddie Martin Airport association and complimented the members on their achievements.

He told of the advances aviation has made in recent years. This advancement he said has been particularly noticeable during the past two years. Commercial companies have improved their schedules and lowered rates until in many cases the rate for air travel is under that charged by the railroads. He spoke of schedules of one hour and 55 minutes between Los Angeles and San Francisco and 26 hour transcontinental schedules.

F. (Bill) Adams, of the Pioneer Instrument company, Los Angeles, spoke on "Blind Flying" and gave a practical demonstration. Adams said that "blind" flying, or operating the ship through the use of instruments alone, is an important safety factor in aviation and that practically every commercial aviation firm requires its pilots to complete 10 or more hours of instrument flying instruction.

A ship is being equipped for blind flying at the Eddie Martin Airport and when completed will be used for the training of students.

Childs Says Name Confused in Report

Elbert Childs, Santa Ana, today requested the Register to correct an error in yesterday's edition, which stated that he was arrested on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

He declared it was his son, Hugh
M. Childs, who was arrested and that the name was probably confused because the son was using his automobile at the time of the arrest. The police records carried the name of Elbert Childs on the arrest slip.

Mrs. Longstreet Commits Suicide

Mrs. May Longstreet, 60, of Garden Grove, committed suicide at Mountain View today by firing a revolver bullet into her brain.

She had been suffering from a nervous disorder, police said. She had been visiting with her husband, Bert, at the home of her niece, Mrs. Elmer Silsbee, in that city. Dispatches today say Sils-bee found her in his woodshed, dead, and his revolver nearby.

If you've ever taken Bayer Aspirin for a headache, you know how soon the pain subsides. It is just as effective in the relief of those pains peculiar to women!

Don't dedicate certain days of every month to suffering. It's old-will always enable you to carry on in comfort. Take enough to assure your complete comfort. If it is genuine aspirin it cannot possibly hurt you. Bayer Aspirin does not depress the heart. It does not upset the stomach. It does nothing but stop the pain.

Headaches come at inconvenient times. So do colds. But a little Bayer Aspirin will always save the day. A throat sore you can hard-with one good gargle made from these tablets. Neuritis. Neuritis.

Rheumatism. Pains that once kept

Genuine Bayer Aspirin tablets cost so very little after all, that it doesn't pay to experiment with imitations!

RETURN OPEN VERDICT IN DEATH CASE

A coroner's jury early today returned an open verdict in the death of Harry A. Meyer, 60, Orange man, who was run down by an automobile driven by Samuel G. Seavey, 64, of 469 South Center street, Orange, in front of the Orange theater Sunday night.

In the meantime Seavey is being held in the county jail charged with manslaughter in connection with the accident.

The inquest was held at the Coffey Funeral parlors this morning the jury finding that Seavey was driving in a negligent manner at the time of the accident and recommending that the district attorney make a further investigation of the case. Death was caused from a fractured skull it was reported.

Ball of $5000 has been placed on Seavey in connection with the case and he is to be given a preliminary examination on October 26 in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court.

Another Orange coroner's jury today reported that Carl Mullenberg, 19, of 3723 Cerritos street, Long Beach, killed when the truck he was driving overturned on the Santiago canyon road Sunday, died in an accidental manner.

This inquest was held at the Coffey funeral parlors in Orange, and the body will probably be sent to Long Beach from there today. Mullenberg was on his way to the W. F. Evans ranch, in the canyon, driving a load of lumber when he lost control of the vehicle, it turning over at the side of the road.

Richard F. Thomas, of Long Beach, a companion of Mullenberg's at the time, was not injured. Funeral services for Meyer will be held from the Coffey parlors at 2 p. m. tomorrow with interment in the Lutheran cemetery. The Rev. A. C. Bode will conduct the services.

Jack Sheares, Santa Ana iron worker, killed early Saturday morning when a huge derrick on the Irvine road collapsed, pinning him underneath, died in an accidental death, a coroner's jury reported at the Smith and Tuthill funeral parlors here yesterday. The jury also reported that Sheares died while in performance of his duty.

L. A. MAN DIES IN OCEAN AT NEWPORT BEACH

The body of Guy L. Duckworth, 48, of 1941 Myra avenue, Los Angeles, was found in the surf at Newport Beach at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, by a searching party which had reported the man missing since noon, when he was last seen in the surf, near the spot where the body washed toward the shore.

Duckworth is a former Anaheim resident and his mother, Mrs. Emma S. Duckworth, now resides there. He also is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ethel D. Duckworth, and two children, Willard and Iwanai Duckworth.

The body was removed to the Smith and Tuthill funeral parlors here, where Coroner Charles D. Brown is expected to hold an inquest tomorrow, it was announced.

Duckworth was returning to his home in Los Angeles from San Diego when he stopped at Newport Beach to see a friend on business. The friend was not at home and while Duckworth waited for him, decided to go for a swim. He had eaten a hearty breakfast shortly before and members of the family are of the opinion that he may have died of heart failure rather than drowning.

A post mortem is to be made here late today before the inquest is called, it was announced.

Local Briefs

All of the Boy Scout districts of the county were to be visited today by C. J. Carlson, representative from the regional office in Los Angeles. Carlson is here inspecting the Scout program. He was taken over the county by Harrison E. White, county scout executive.

A date for the annual county dairy day will be set and plans for the program will be outlined at the meeting of the directors of the county dairy department which is to be held at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night in Ketter's cafe. E. A. Wakeham, Garden Grove, is chairman of the board of directors.

Orange county rabbit breeders will hear a discussion of fur grading at the regular meeting to be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the farm advisor's office. Judge George S. West will be the principal speaker, it was announced.

H. B. CONTRACTOR GETS BRIDGE JOB

W. H. Jones, of Huntington Beach, today was awarded the contract for constructing approach fills at the Talbert bridge over the Santa Ana river, which is being raised. His bid was the lowest in a group of five and totaled $2475. It was based on 21 and three quarters cents per yard of earth.

Other bids received were as follows: Kovacevich and Price, Long Beach, 34 cents per yard; Bruce brothers, Long Beach, 27 and one half cents; J. O'Hara, Los Angeles, 34 cents; and Wells and Bressler, Santa Ana, 40 cents. According to Nat Neff, highway superintendent, there will be 11-375 yards of earth to be moved.

ARREST ORANGE YOUTHS WANTED IN FIGHT CASE

Woodrow Ray, 19, of 343 North Olive street and Virgil Heffner, 19, of 116 North Pine street, Orange youths wanted in connection with an attempted assault on two Fullerton junior high school girls, on Collins street, Orange, late Sunday night, were arrested late last night by Sheriff Logan Jackson and Constable George Bartley.

The youths were found at the home of a friend near Orange, it was reported.

They were brought to the county jail where they were booked on charges of assault with a deadly weapon, and not for any charge against the girls. The charge filed is that they brutally beat one of the girls' rescuers, Ralph Comstock, 15, of Anaheim, who with Charles Gray and Leo Noel, also of Anaheim, are reported to have gone to the aid of the two girls whom they heard screaming from the car occupied by the Ray and Heffner boys.

The father of young Comstock is the complaining witness in the case. It could not be learned whether the district attorney expected to place other charges against the youths in jail as Leo Felix, deputy district attorney who is handling the case, stated that he had just been informed officially of the action today.

The boys were subjected to a grilling by police authorities this morning and have not been arraigned on the charge. Felix stated that young Comstock was badly beaten about the head, and that his head was in bandages.

According to a sheriff's office report of the case, the two Orange youths picked up the Fullerton girls on an Orange street late Sunday night and drove them to a secluded spot on Collins avenue, where an attempted assault occurred. The girls screamed and the three Anaheim boys, fixing a puncture nearby heard their screams and rushed to the rescue. They were met with opposition on the part of the boys with the girls and in the fight that followed, both Comstock and Gray were injured.

The girls were rescued by the boys, however, and were taken to the sheriff's office by the Anaheim youths.

MONEY LOSS AT BAKERY CAUSES INVESTIGATION

A money bag containing $76 in cash was stolen last night from the bakery of W. H. Gilbert, 423 1-2 West Fourth street, under peculiar circumstances which caused police officers investigating the case to question two Santa Anans. The money has not been found.

Gilbert reported that he had just counted his money and placed it in a sack, preparatory to closing the bakery when two men walked into the store and ordered a bottle of milk. He procured the milk for them and they offered a $1 bill in payment.

When Gilbert went to make change from the bag, the bag was missing, he reported.

Both men, whose names are being withheld for the time being, were questioned by officers but claimed they knew nothing of the theft.

CHILDREN MAKE APPEAL TO COUNCIL AND PROPERTY OWNERS FOR SIDEWALKS

Several weeks ago a petition signed by more than a score of residents of the south end of the city, asking that sidewalks be constructed on the west side of Main street 600 feet south from the Julia Lathrop school, was received by the city council. No action was taken other than to order the city engineer to contact property owners relative to the plan.

Last night, the city council received another petition, this time from a group of students of the school, urging that some definite action be taken. It was read before the council and ordered received and filed.

The petition which was directed to the property owners and the council, was as follows:

"You first named persons are the owners of 25 acres which extends from South Main street, west for five blocks. We are some of the children who live south of your property and west of Main street and who walk north to school. As you know, we can't get across your property anywhere when we go to school for although your property has been in the city of Santa Ana for over five years, yet you have never put in a sidewalk anywhere for us children to walk on our way to school.

"Traffic Dangerous

"As it is, we are afraid to walk out in the street for two blocks as there are so many fast autos on Main street, so we cross to the east side, walk north and again cross Main street at the school making four crossings every day on Main street. You wouldn't like to have your own children walk either in black mud or cut on a busy street, would you?

"All the other people on Main street have long put in sidewalks and they don't own such very valuable property as you do. We

3 ARRESTED AS OFFICERS FIND BEER, WHISKEY

Four gallons of whiskey and 450 bottles of beer, together with more than that number of empty beer bottles and other equipment for making liquor, were captured in a series of three raids staged by Santa Ana police officers last night on Mexicans homes in the city.

Two men and a woman were arrested and lodged in the county jail on charges of possession of liquor.

Officers, led by Chief of Police F. W. Howard and Capt. Jess Buckles raided the home of Juan Charras, 46, at 621 Daisey street, taking him prisoner and finding 15 gallons and 250 quarts of beer in a cellar, together with 250 empty beer bottles, they reported.

From there the raiders swept down on the home of A. Martinez, 1016 Logan street, where four gallons of whiskey were reported found and from there they paid an official visit at the home of Mrs. Dominga Carlon, 34, of 2002 West Fifth street, Santa Ana. Here 200 bottles of beer was found, together with two pints of whiskey, it was reported.

All three defendants were to be in police court today.

'Unloaded' Shotgun Scores Again

Little Camie McCain, 5, Huntington Beach Rt. 1, was playing with a gun that "wasn't loaded."

Her daddy, Frank McCain, 38, was in the kitchen of the home, watching his daughter drag the 410 gauge shotgun around chairs and under the stove.

As the little girl stumbled, the gun exploded and a charge of No. 6 shot entered McCain's chest and shoulders, missing his heart by inches.

The injured man was rushed to the Newport Beach hospital. While his condition is serious, he is expected to recover.

LIBERTY PARTY CANDIDATE AT SAN CLEMENTE

SAN CLEMENTE, Oct. 20.—Andrae B. Nordskog, Liberty party candidate for vice president of the United States, whose presidential candidate is William H. (Coin) Harvey, was a visitor here Monday. Nordskog, an old friend of Ole Hanson and Tom Murphree when they were in the thick of things political in the state of Washington, outlined the platform of the new Liberty party.

"The most important plank in the platform of the Liberty Party is the elimination of the gold standard," he said. "The establishment of the free coinage of silver and the governmental ownership of all banks are other important planks. It is the purpose of the Liberty party to inaugurate a system whereby large public works will be undertaken by the government, such as the construction of several major highways across the nation. New treasury notes will be issued as needed and paid directly to the people employed on these works; the money will find its way into the legitimate channels of trade without one dollar of interest charges such as prevails under the present system of making loans of our government-made money through privately owned banks."

Nordskog, who gained fame as a dynamic foe of monopolists, was enthusiastic over the future of the Liberty party. The party was organized at a convention called at Monte Ne, Ark., August 25.

CARNERA LISTED AS DESERTER BY FRENCH

PARIS, Oct. 20.—(UP)—Private Primo Carnera went on the French army lists today as a deserter when he failed to report to the 158th infantry regiment at Strasbourg as a naturalized French conscript soldier.

Orders have gone out to the police to arrest him on sight in France and carry him under guard to the regimental guardhouse at Strasbourg.

Carnera, as a building laborer, applied for French citizenship long before he became a prize fighter. After that his naturalization took its course without any further action on his part and while he was in America, the courts proclaimed him a French citizen enjoying all the rights—including 12 months compulsory military service followed by 30 years of progressive movement through the reserves.

Local Druggist Supplied With Free Sample Packages Of Two New Vick Products

Desire of Makers That Every User of Vicks VapoRub Have a Free Trial of New Vicks Nose and Throat Drops and Vicks Medicated Cough Drops.

RESULT OF RESEARCH

New Discovery Makes Possible New Vick Plan of Home-Control of Colds.

REDUCES "COLDS-TAX"

A quarter century ago Vicks VapoRub introduced the modern and better method of treating colds—externally. Now, Vicks Chemists develop a new preparation—Vicks Nose and Throat Drops—based on a new idea in preventing colds. A perfect ally to VapoRub, it makes possible the new Vick Plan for better Control of Colds in the home—and further reduction of the family "Colds-Tax."

Here is the Plan:

1.—Before a Cold Starts.

On exposure to colds or any of the causes that ordinarily lead to colds—(crowded indoor places—stuffy, poorly ventilated rooms—sudden temperature changes—wet and cold)—that slow down the normal functioning of the nose, Nature's marvelous "first line of defense against colds"—use Vicks Drops promptly. Or, if a cold actually threatens—when you feel that first stuffy, sneezy irritation of the nasal passages—a few drops up each nostril, and many annoying colds will be avoided.

2.—When a Cold Strikes

Use the convenient Vicks Drops during the day—any time, any place—as often as needed for comfort and relief. At bedtime, rub Vicks VapoRub well over throat and chest and cover with warm flannel. Leave bed clothing loose around the neck so the medicated vapors can be inhaled all night long. This Vick Plan gives you a full 24-hour treatment. (If there is a cough, you will like another new Vick product—Vicks Cough Drops—actually medicated with ingredients of Vicks VapoRub.)

Trial Package Free

In order that every user of Vicks VapoRub may try the two new Vick products now being introduced, a supply of free trial packages of each has been sent to every druggist in the United States. Go to your druggist today and ask for yours. If, by any chance his supply is exhausted, send us the top of a Vicks VapoRub carton—or coupon from the VapoRub directions folder—and we will mail free samples direct to you, together with a folder on the new Vick Plan for Control of Colds in the home. CITIZENS PROTEST RADIO RECEPTION

Declaring that radio reception throughout the city was being handicapped by numerous obsolete electrical appliances, and pointing out one particularly from which no relief had been obtained, a petition, signed by some 15 citizens, asking the city council for some relief, was read before the council last night at its regular meeting.

X-ray machines and electric signs were named as two of the appliances that were causing much trouble.

The matter was referred to the city attorney for the purpose of determining some method of drawing a city ordinance which would relieve the situation.

SUGAR FACTORY COMPLETES RUN OF 12,500 TONS

Completing production of 250,000 bags, or 12,500 tons of sugar, the Holly Sugar company factory here shut down operations for the season yesterday. The last beets were cut Thursday and refining operations completed Saturday night.

According to R. M. Daniels, superintendent of the factory, the plant carried a crew of approximately 300 men during the season and used the entire production of 4500 acres of sugar beets in this district in addition to a large quantity of beets shipped in from the north. According to Daniels, beet acreage in Orange county is being reduced each year making it necessary to ship in more tonnage from the north each season.

Between 30 and 40 men will be retained during the winter and until re-opening of the season next year, according to Daniels. These men will work in the warehouse and about the plant, overhauling and repairing machinery and buildings prior to beginning of next season's run.

Some of the employees affected by shutdown of the local factory will go to sugar factories in other districts, where, due to climatic differences, operations are just beginning.

Controversy Over Planes In Court

A lawsuit for claim and delivery of two Bellanca airplanes in Mexico was submitted for decision yesterday to Superior Judge James L. Allen. L. C. Thornton, to whom the Bellanca company had assigned its claim, brought the action against Charles H. Payne, who had repossessed and repaired the planes at Torreon, Mexico, for the company.

The complaint said he had refused to deliver the planes. In his answer Payne said he was holding them for $6955.08 alleged to be due him for his work.

Says Enforcement Cost Of Smudge Control Excessive

District Attorney Sam L. Collins today informed the board of supervisors of action taken at a recent conference of prosecutors in four citrus growing counties and said that in order to be in harmony with the program developed, he planned to submit to the board a proposed ordinance for controlling the smudge pot smoke nuisance.

Collins stated that it is his belief that the civil costs are the proper places to seek relief from the nuisance as it becomes intolerable.

He declared also that it would cost more to enforce the proposed ordinance than it costs to run the entire sheriff's office.

"You can imagine the cost of hiring men to make the inspections necessary in enforcing the law," he said.

The proposed ordinance would prohibit use of smudge pots which produced more than a given amount of carbon per unit of fuel used. Apparatus has been devised to measure this carbon.

W.C.T.U. LEADER SAYS WETS ARE USING LEGION

With a membership double that of last year, the Woman's Christian Temperance union of California will conduct the most strenuous campaign of its history in 1932, Mrs. Eva C. Wheeler, Los Angeles, state president, declared at the opening of the four-day 49th annual convention in Long Beach today.

In response to a question regarding the attitude of the W. C. T. U. on the stand of the American Legion on the 15th amendment, Mrs. Wheeler declared she thought certain members of the Legion were being used by the liquor interests.

Mrs. Wheeler declared she felt that the majority of the Legion members were in favor of upholding the Constitution of the United States.

There are 24,000 members of the W. C. T. U. in Southern California, with 600,000 members throughout the United States, Mrs. Wheeler said.

The state president said that in 1932, there would be more literature distributed, more radio talks given on prohibition and more public meetings than ever before in the history of the organization.

The prohibition forces, aware of the wet propaganda which has been flooding the country, intend to fight back, Mrs. Wheeler said.

Ask Cooperation Of City In Plan For Relief Gardens

Harold Wahlberg, chairman of the garden committee of the Santa Ana unemployment general committee, met with the city council last night, discussed plans being made by the committee towards making gardens on vacant lots here throughout the winter and to ask the city's aid in furnishing water to a number of the lots the committee expects to use.

Nothing definite was done by the council other than to refer the request to Councilman J. L. McBride, who will confer with the garden committee at a later date this week.

Wahlberg stated that he expected a number of lot owners here to volunteer their property to some family where the husband is not employed and in this manner aid this family in procuring its food, or part of it, during the winter months.

He declared that the seed men of the city were to be contacted with a request that they furnish seeds at cost for the lots and his request before the council was for a reduction in the water rates for families working the lots, if it could be arranged.

Court Notes

M. A. Princeshouse and Merton E. Cutting have brought suit against R. T. Dixon, doing business as the Dixon Pump works of Santa Ana, asking judgment for $16,010.65. The complaint said the pump works furnished pumping equipment and pipes for an irrigation system used by the plaintiffs near Encinitas, but that they were unable to irrigate 12 and one half acres of the 30 acre property with the equipment and suffered a loss in its value for that reason.

Charging desertion, Ella Allen Hankins has brought suit for di-

PLAN BENEFIT FOR RELIEF OF JOBLESS

Members of the Santa Ana city council were last night told plans for staging a free show at the Fox West Coast theater, one day during the week of November 18-25, the proceeds of which are to go to the unemployed of the city.

The plans were announced by Norman Sprowl, Fox theater manager here, who stated that he was working with the Motion Pictures Producers and Distributors in aiding the unemployed throughout the country, in accordance with the Gifford-Young committee appointed by President Hoover.

He asked that the week of November 18-25 be set aside as "National Motion Picture Week" here, and that one day of that week be designated as "National Motion Picture Day."

Mayor John Knox and members of the council stated they would aid in the movement and officially turned the proposition over to the city's unemployment emergency committee with power to act in co-operation with the theater for the week asked for, and for the free show for the unemployed. Herbert Rankin is chairman of that committee.

CAN BE THANKFUL FOR MANY THINGS

"Christ wants His followers to lead such a life that by it others may be attracted to God and His church," said the Rev. William Schmook in his sermon at the Trinity Lutheran church Sunday.

"The Christian must, therefore, walk circumspectly, watchfully, carefully, he must avoid all excesses and lusts and vices and exercise himself in all Christian virtues.

"In order to walk circumspectly a Christian must advance in knowledge of the will of God as it is indicated by the Scriptures.

"The Lord further calls on His Christians to 'give thanks always for all things unto God.' There are many things, even in these depressed times, for which we owe thanks to God. Let us give thanks to Him for health, sleep, food, raiment, for forgiveness of sins, and for the promise of eternal life.

"The Lord says: 'Whosoever will be chief among you, let him be your servant.' Be a servant and you are a lord! We should follow the example set by the Saviour Himself, and submit ourselves one to another, for then we will walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise."

Arrange Funeral For Youth Killed On Hunting Trip

Funeral services for Edwin W. Rogers, 19-year-old Santa Ana boy, killed accidentally while hunting goats on Catalina Island Sunday morning, will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Winbiger Funeral home here, it was announced today.

Accompanied by 15 other Santa Anans, a boat was chartered and the party left Newport Beach early Sunday morning. A number of the party fished while others went to the hills to seek the famous mountain goat.

Young Rogers, accompanied by his father, William R. Rogers, a brother, and others was descending into a canyon, when Rogers' gun suddenly went off, the high powered shot lodging in his breast. Death was almost instantaneous, it was said.

Aside from his father and brother, who witnessed the accident, Rogers is survived by his mother and two sisters, all of whom reside on South Bristol street, here, just outside of the city limits.

Y. M. C. A. DRIVE MEETING TO BE HELD TONIGHT

Special from Anaheim

Faced with a $2000 shortage in the Y. M. C. A. budget for 1932 directors of the organization will meet at the downtown "Y" office at 8 o'clock this evening to discuss further campaign plans and future of the "Y" in Anaheim. It was announced today by Conrad Jørgensen, secretary.

Seriousness of the situation from the organization's standpoint was manifest last night at the close of a week's effort to raise $5000 to meet next year's expenses through an intensive campaign for public support. The 75 solicitors reported only an additional $569.50 of which $160 was reported by the special gifts committee. This brings the total subscribed to $2,847.75. Officials of the "Y" say they feel certain of raising an additional $700 among themselves and from citizens who last year subscribed a total of $1000 and who have not yet been contacted during the present campaign. With this additional $700, shortage in the budget will still amount to $2000.

In fixing their 1932 budget at $550 directors said, "This is as low as board dare go and assure a successful year for our boys."

What steps are now to be taken: whether to conduct a supplemental campaign next summer or to attempt devising of a plan of emergency operation entailing a reduced program is a question for the present board of directors to determine since its term of office expires next month. It hopes to have the situation ironed out before the annual election of directors and officers at the annual meeting early in November. In any event the campaign which started last Tuesday will be continued until every prospect has been contacted. It was announced. Final report from solicitors will probably not be requested until next week. To date 164 citizens have pledged their financial support for the coming year.

PACKING PLANTS TO CLOSE

FULLERTON, Oct. 20.—The majority of the orange packing houses in Fullerton will wind up the present Valencia crop of this week, with the exception of some light packing to be done of off-bloom fruit.

SCHOOL SQUINTS

—by—
DON GAISER

Special from Anaheim

A very important meeting of the Sophomore class is scheduled for this afternoon during the last 20 minutes of section period.

Senior class officers are making a final drive for Senior class dues, of one dollar, which are payable to Fern Mathis, Joyce Moses, Alma Bailey, Vesta Creath, Russ Fitzpatrick, and Ed Launder.

Tony Naccarato has entered school and is specializing in machine shop.

Opening the week with the usual "Blue Monday Practice," Coach Dick Glover led his Anaheim Colonists through a stiff workout.

None of the fellows showed the usual zip which was so noticeable against Orange last Friday.

A few new plays were added to the offensive array which should be working smoothly by the Tuesday game Friday.

In looking over the records, Anaheim has played four games this year, lost one and only scored six points, with seven being scored against them. The four games and their respective scores are as follows: Oceanside 0 to 6; Excelsior 7, Anaheim 6; Garden Grove 0, Anaheim 6, and the game not forgotten 0 to 6 tie with Orange.

Although Tustin was upset by the scrappy Chilipeppers from Garden Grove 6 to 6, they are expected to make it plenty interesting for the Colonists at Tustin Friday. Bill Cole, formerly of U. S. C., always sends a scrappy bunch on the field who seem to get more "kick" out of "taking" Anaheim than any other team in the league.

Corwin Roquet, husky guard, is giving Bob Eley, regular guard, a real fight for the first string berth. Keep it up fellows; competition for the various positions is what makes a real team.

Coach Robert Ryan, of Anaheim's B team, received a tough break when his backfield star, Ralph Comstock, was set upon Friday night and given a regular beating, by two unidentified fellows, when he was attempting to help two girls who were in the company of the "beaters" who were said to be drunk.

Ralph won't be able to play football any more this year, which is a tough break for both he and the coach.

The Anaheim Girl Reserves, with President Grace Houck presiding, will meet tonight in the Presbyterian church at 7:00 p. m.

HORACE MANN SCHOOL FORMS P.-T. A. GROUP

Special from Anaheim

Organization of a new Parent-Teacher association was perfected at the new Horace Mann school Monday afternoon when potential members of the association met under the chairmanship of Mrs. M. V. Kelsey, adopted the California P.-T. A. constitution and by-laws, elected officers, and fixed the second Wednesday of each month as their regular meeting date. The regular meeting in May was fixed as the annual meeting of the group.

Mrs. Arthur A. Kemper was chosen president of the new organization. Mrs. J. E. Johnson, vice president, Miss Lucia Up, recording secretary, Mrs. Arthur Roquet was elected treasurer. These four officers will constitute the executive board and their first meeting will be held Thursday afternoon in the kindergarten room of the school at 3:30 o'clock. At this time chairmen for the various committees will be chosen.

The new president, Mrs. Kemper, after a few words of appreciation, appointed Miss Alice Harrison as membership chairman.

Mrs. C. A. Sisson, president of the City Council P.-T. A., invited the association to join the council and was cordially accepted by a vote of the members.

M. A. Gauer, superintendent of schools, announced that the school will be dedicated November 20. A musical program will be provided by children of the school, and announcement of the result of a contest now being conducted by the school for the students will be made. An art exhibit has been arranged for the dedication by Los Angeles artists and will be exhibited in the vacant rooms and in the hallway.

Mrs. E. R. Atkins, secretary of the city council, was appointed acting secretary for the meeting yesterday. At the next meeting on November 11, all of the new officers will be installed and plans for the year made.

VIOLINIST IN PROGRAM
HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 20.—Frank Gieger, Los Angeles violinist, will provide the musical program for the Methodist Brotherhood meeting Friday evening at the Woman's clubhouse. It will be woman's night and a special program has been arranged. The Dorcas society will serve the dinner at 6:30 o'clock.

ANAHEIM MERCHANT RETURNS FROM RUSSIAN TRIP, TELLS OF DEPLORABLE CONDITIONS

Fear of the G. P. U., the Soviet secret police, and the lack of enough food alone are enough to make Russia an undesirable place to live, according to Max Gantman, who operates the M. G. store recently established here at Los Angeles and Center streets. Gantman has but recently returned from a month's trip to Russia, his native land, and can recite startling facts about the highly praised and condemned country.

Special from Anaheim

While the average tourist sees only the cities and the things that the Soviet government desires, the person who is familiar with the people and the country can tell a different story than can the visitor, Gantman declared.

Suffer for Food

Today men in Russia work eight hours a day and sometimes go two days without even a bite of black bread, Gantman asserted. He cited an instance in his own home town in Russia to prove the point. In the past the worker in Russia had plenty to eat but now he does not, he said. The average laborer does not make enough money in a day to buy three pounds of black bread, the staple food of the masses. Gantman's mother and other relatives live in Ukraine, a small town near Kiev, and it was in this place that he spent most of his time, although he traveled and stopped in many large cities during his trip.

How can a man work if he does not have enough to eat? was a query asked of Gantman by a number of men in Soviet Russia. Gantman declared that he had talked to at least 1000 people who are natives and who live in Russia, and that only two or three of them were in favor of the Communist government.

Small children are in favor of the present form of government, but this is because they are educated to it; they are constantly told that the workers of other countries are starving to death and are not as well off as they are. Propaganda pours into the ears of everyone nearly all the time, he asserted.

Gantman asked a 9-year-old boy if he wanted to go back to America with him. "Perhaps," the boy returned, "if I don't have to believe in God." "You have to believe in God," the boy was told, "Americans believe in God and they have all that they want of nearly everything." "I won't go then," the boy replied, "You may have everything, but the workers are starving. Your mother lives in Russia, she believes in God, but she doesn't have anything."

Fearful of Police

Fear of the ever-present members of the dread O. G. P. U., the secret service of the country, makes the people distrust each other. They hardly know who is their friend, because members of this powerful secret organization are unknown.

No one can tell at what time during the night a member or group of the O. G. P. U. will pound on the door of his house and demand entrance. The visitations usually occur around 2 o'clock in the morning, Gantman said. No property is safe from the depredations of the O. G. P. U. They confiscate all dollar bills, gold or other articles the householder may have, at their desire. If they find nothing of value and they suspect the people of having valuables or commodities that are banned, they tear holes in the floor, in the furniture or in anything that may secrete them.

Fines may be imposed on anyone that the government or its agents see fit, whether or not there is a reason for the fine, Gantman declared. If the people are unable to pay the fine their furniture or other personal articles are confiscated and are used to apply on the debt. If the people accumulate anything later it is liable to be taken to satisfy judgments of the government. In this manner ambition and private enterprise is successfully stifled, Gantman declared.

Gantman recited an incident that happened in his home town where a citizen was fined and was unable to pay the amount assessed. He was immediately thrown in jail, where he remained for a long period of time. Food was not even supplied him and it was necessary for his wife to bring him enough money to keep life in his body.

Government Controls Stores

All merchandising stores and factories are operated by the government. Managers, superintendents and heads of departments are elected by workers in the place.

Method of election procedure are peculiar, Gantman pointed out, in several respects. If there are 100 men in a factory, it is probable that perhaps 10 of them are communists. One of the latter number is certain to be chosen for the high position. He is nominated and the vote is cast. The 10 communists vote for him, the rest are silent, Gantman declared. The others fear to vote against the man because they are certain to suffer direly for their act if they do so. Mayors are elected the same way.

Prices in Russia today are exorbitant, although better prices can be secured in the smaller communities, according to Gantman. Butter sells in large cities for the equivalent of from three to four dollars a pound; eggs sell for 18 cents each; a poor specimen of a smoked herring sells for about 50 cents.

According to the standard exchange, a Russian ruble is worth about 50 cents in United States money. If the worker is fortunate to make 100 rubles a month he does not even receive this amount but is forced to contribute a portion of it for use in educational institutions, subscriptions for government newspapers and other items, Gantman said.

Workers Use Script
Workers purchase the government standard script books, with which they are able to purchase a certain quantity of articles at reduced prices, although the amount of goods to be purchased is limited. A peculiar circumstance is that some of the workers pay a great deal more for these books than do others. The purchase price is varied, according to the occupation of the worker. For instance, an engineer or a person studying to be an engineer receives more money for his work than does the laborer, and also gets a better discount on his purchases. A bookkeeper is allowed to purchase a half pound of black bread a day with the book but if he wishes to buy more he must pay the higher price.

There are stores in the larger cities that sell only to foreigners and will take only foreign money. They do not want nor do they accept their own money. Gantman declared that the reason for this is that the government wishes to accumulate a supply of money from foreign countries. The Russian paper money is of no value, he said.

Foreigners Well Treated
The foreigner in Russia is treated well, much better than the native, he declared. Those who make trips to see Russia are shown the factories that are being built, business in the larger cities but seldom obtain correct information on the conditions of the country because they do not see the methods of living of the masses, Gantman held. Residents of Gantman's home town wear clothes that are patched so often that one patch overlies another, he said. The clothes are coarse and nearly all alike. Those who live in the cities are somewhat better dressed, he said.

Following are a few of the pointed remarks Gantman made concerning: Out of 162,000,000 people in Russia there are but 2,250,000 communists. The five year plan may be operating in 10 years, it is problematical. Educational institutions are run to the people's advantage, there are plenty of schools. The people had no liberty before the Soviets took charge of the government; they have none now, but they did have food before. In a city of 50,000 inhabitants it was impossible to buy either a comb or shears. In smaller cities soap cannot be purchased.

Every day lines block long form in the cities to obtain their quota of black bread or soup, the standard food of the country. People have little to eat and what they do have is of poor quality. There is little meat and no luxuries. A pair of socks that sells for eight cents here costs one dollar in Russia. People do as they are told, they fear to do otherwise. Factories are being built by foreign engineers but few of them are operating.

OLIVER GUARDS AGAINST OVERCONFIDENCE

BRUSHING UP SPORTS . . . By Laufer

Injuries Riddle Jaycee Squad

FEAR CAPTAIN SANTA CRUZ IS OUT FOR YEAR

BY PAUL WRIGHT
Informed that Captain Mike Santa Cruz, brilliant tackle, may be out of Santa Ana junior college's regular lineups for the rest of the season as a result of a broken ankle sustained in the Compton game, Coach Bill Cook was filled with despondency today as he set about the task of preparing a crippled football machine for the Pasadena game here Saturday.

Two other gridders, Paul Bruce, center, and Dick Lusk, quarterback, have broken noses and nearly every griddler who saw action for any length of time Saturday knew it today.

The alleged illegality which Compton displayed was to a great extent responsible for the Santa Ana injuries, in the opinion of the players themselves. Paul Jungkelt, running guard, was clipped from behind several times, as was Wayne Bartholomew and several other Dons. The infractions were unpunished.

Compton Penalized 195 Yards
The 195 yards which were imposed on Compton because of penalties were, in the opinion of the players, inadequate in comparison to the number of infractions. Coach Cook believes, and although having no alibi to offer for Santa Ana's defeat, the Don mentor openly declares he was not satisfied with the manner in which the Tartars worked their shift, which seemed to go considerably faster than football law allows. His arguments with the referee carried little weight, however.

Promising to be as tough as any game remaining on Santa Ana's schedule, the Pasadena tilt Saturday will bring several changes in the lineups due to current injuries.

With Santa Cruz out, Cook will choose a right tackle from a limited list of candidates, including Jack Wilson, formerly an end, and Elwyn ("Wit") Johnson. There is a possibility that Horace Riteer, husky tackle who was shifted to left guard several weeks ago, will be removed to his former position, where he will alternate with Willy and Johnson. Johnson plays left tackle but could be shifted to the right side without difficulty.

Bruce May Be Lost
Bruce played well Saturday but because of his broken nose, probably will be unable to start at center against Pasadena. If Gib Melsinger and Miner Whitford show any fire during this week's practice at center, it will be necessary for the Don mentor to shift Wayne Bartholomew from guard to the ball-fighting post. Since Jungkelt alternates with Bartholomew at running guard, however, Bartholomew will see some action at center.

Recovering from two broken ribs received early in the season, Garth Olsen, former Santa Ana halfback, will be in the fight for a guard position this week, along with Gil Kluthe, Laurence Rosstier, Fred Pinkston, Tom Beasley, Kenneth Schenck, Bob Hafer, Charles Crumrine and Don Harrison.

Solon Beall and Lucius Conkey, left and right ends, respectively, escaped without serious injury at Compton, and their presence in the Don lineup will make it possible for Rideo Higashi to resume his old position at quarter. Higashi will concentrate on both backfield and end positions, however, in case Conkey's ankle goes bad at the last moment, as it has done in past games.

Blaeholder, Brown Slab Star, Home

George Blaeholder, St. Louis Brown pitcher, returned to his home at Garden Grove today to remain for the winter. He drove to Southern California from Tulsa, Okla., where he and Mrs. Blaeholder motored after the American league season closed. Mrs. Blaeholder was a Tulsa girl. Blaeholder participated in 35 games for the Browns during the past campaign, winning 11 and losing 15 with a .34 club that was a chronic loser. During one stretch of misfortune the big right-hander dropped three successive games by one-run margins in which he gave his opposition three, six and five hits, respectively.

WHEN NURMI LOST RECORD

The eight-year-old world's record for the mile run was vanishing beneath the flying feet of Jules Ladoumègue, brilliant French track star, when this picture was taken at the Jean Bui stadium, near Paris. Ladoumègue's time of 4.9 1-5 eclipsed by more than a second the mark which Paavo Nurmi set in Stockholm in 1923. Here you see Ladoumègue crossing the finish line.

COACH THINKS CHAMPIONSHIP RACE IS OPEN

BY GRIDDER
Fearful of the great god Overconfidence, conqueror of more than one potential champion, Coach "Tex" Oliver today "shushed" as premature and unethical, popular gossip here that Santa Ana high school's football team is on the way to its first Coast Preparatory league football title.

Oliver was well satisfied with the Saints' smashing victory over San Diego last Saturday, and told his players so before practice yesterday. But after scattering bouquets, he put himself on record that he was not one of those perennial optimists already wondering who will be Santa Ana's first opponent in the Southern California playoffs.

The San Diego victory was sweet to us all," Oliver said. "We worked hard for it. We deserved it. We are happy for it. But we must remember we must defeat five other highly efficient football teams before we can begin to think about championships. Newspaper clippings won't beat Pasadena, Long Beach, Glendale, Alhambra and Fullerton in successive weeks.

Says Race Wide Open
"It is my opinion that every school in the league will be troublesome. The race seems to be wider open than ever before. We proved that, I guess, when we won from San Diego. We weren't supposed to do that, you know. San Diego was a heavy favorite everywhere else, even if not here.

"Take Alhambra, for instance. The Moors were established as the team to beat for the title after they beat Long Beach. Yet Glendale, supposedly none too strong, held Alhambra, 7-6, last Saturday. And Alhambra had its full strength on the field, impressions to the contrary being erroneous.

"I'm not going to be a pessimist. I think Santa Ana has a good team and a good chance to win the championship, but no better chance than San Diego, Alhambra, Long Beach and Fullerton. On past performances, I should say that Fullerton would be the real favorite. They tell me Don Chickshank has the best line in the league this year. His men beat Glendale, 33-6, and Glendale almost upset Alhambra."

Fans Here On Edge
Santa Ana football followers in general, always optimistic, appreciated Coach Oliver's cautiousness but continued to wax enthusiastic about his prospects. There is no doubt but that the Saints' victory over San Diego, the first in ten years, started something. If Oliver's outfit goes on winning, especially if it takes Long Beach a week from Saturday, the old 1931 "ginger" will begin to be felt.

Unbiased observers believe that Santa Ana's line, from end to end, is almost as strong as the forward wall that swept to victory after victory for "Spud" Morrison exactly a decade ago. Saint reserve strength may not be as powerful as it was ten years ago, but like "Tex" Harris, Paul Perench, Jimmie Lash and Walter Cleveland haven't appeared here in the same season.

Lawrence Lutz appears to have even greater possibilities than "Chuck" Ehrhorn, George Decker and "Tex" Rister, best of the tackles here since 1921, and Miles Norton, his running mate, was almost as good as Lutz against San Diego.

Noe Ready For Action
Santa Ana fans didn't get to see Willard Noe, another tackle, who has ranked ahead of Norton before Saturday's classic. Noe has been laid up with a knee injury but reported yesterday in good condition and will be available for the Pasadena contest this weekend.

Andy Utlick and Douglas Hinesley, Oliver's first string guards, have already been compared to the famed Best twins, Elliott and Everett, who looked so much alike that Coach Morrison made 'em wear different colored jerseys to tell them apart.

Nobody has yet had the temerity to compare Oliver's center, Earl Halderman and Clarence Meacham, with the great "Jeff" Cravath but

DID YOU KNOW THAT—
Hockey fans may expect a closer race in the two divisions of the National league this winter. . . . The two fallers of Philadelphia and Ottawa have been absorbed in an eight-team league. . . . This move adds more games for each team in the schedule. . . . Hockey borrowed the baseball draft in signing up the unemployed Philly and Ottawa players. . . . Clubs lowest in the standings had first pick at the Senators and Quakers. . . . The clubs pay one-fifth of the market value prices for the use of the players they selected for five years. . . . which is supposed to be the average length of a big league hockey career.

COLLEGE SPIRIT
Fortunately, few fatalities mark the great American game of football. When one occurs there usually is a story of heroism, of real "never say die" college spirit.

Take the tragic case of Captain Reuben Getschow, star of the little known Elmhurst College eleven. Getschow sustained a broken neck in the first game of the season and died a week later after his mates, determined to carry on for their injured leader, defeated another little known team, the Milwaukee Teachers.

Getschow didn't have to play football. He could have been a loyal supporter of the team without actually being a player. He would have none of this, however, so he had to overcome the handicap of a broken back suffered in a bad fall four years ago. His determination and fighting spirit carried him to the heights of all-conference honors in the season of 1930. A further reward came to him in the faith of his teammates who elected him captain of the 1931 eleven.

P. E.'S TO PLAY OILERS SUNDAY AT NEW PARK

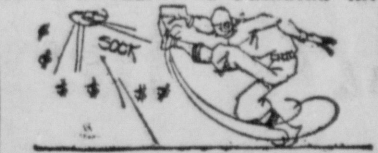

Stiffer competition is promised next Sunday for the Hancock Oilers when the Santa Anas play the Pacific Electric Oilers at their new South Main street park.

The P. E.'s rate as one of the fastest independent clubs in Los Angeles, according to Carl Ruecker, business manager of the Hancock team. "Memphy" Hill and Ed and Leavitt Daley, well known Santa Ana night ball players, are members of the P. E. outfit.

Santa Ana had a breeze for its opening game Sunday, winning from the Los Angeles Police, 14-0.

Perhaps Benny Leonard is broke. Perhaps he can make himself another fortune with his fists. But that isn't the reason the former lightweight champion is attempting a comeback.

"I love boxing," he told an interviewer. "Boxing made me rich, put me in with nice people and I'm ever so grateful. And you can't make it too emphatic that I'm not broke."

Saturday win and several changes in the lineup due to current injuries.

With Santa Cruz out, Cook will choose a right tackle from a limited list of candidates, including Jack Wilson, formerly an end, and Elwyn ("Wit") Johnson. There is a possibility that Horace Riteer, husky tackle who was shifted to left guard several weeks ago, will be removed to his former position, where he will alternate with Willy and Johnson. Johnson plays left tackle but could be shifted to the right side without difficulty.

Bruce played well Saturday but because of his broken nose, probably will be unable to start at center against Pasadena. If Gib Melsinger and Miner Whitford show any fire during this week's practice at center, it will be necessary for the Don mentor to shift Wayne Bartholomew from guard to the ball-fighting post. Since Jungkelt alternates with Bartholomew at running guard, however, Bartholomew will see some action at center.

R-covering from two broken ribs received early in the season, Garth Olsen, former Santa Ana halfback, will be in the fight for a guard position this week, along with Gil Kluthe, Laurence Rosstier, Fred Pinkston, Tom Beasley, Kenneth Schenck, Bob Hafer, Charles Crumrine and Don Harrison.

Solon Beall and Lucius Conkey, left and right ends, respectively, escaped without serious injury at Compton, and their presence in the Don lineup will make it possible for Rideo Higashi to resume his old position at quarter. Higashi will concentrate on both backfield and end positions, however, in case Conkey's ankle goes bad at the last moment, as it has done in past games.

Further changes in some of the Trojan plays and instruction in a few new ones have been on Jones' program this week. A believer in the principle that a strong running attack is the basis of good football, the Trojan leader is steadily increasing and varying the S. C. ball totting plays, never being satisfied to let the plays go as they are.

The Southern California football party will leave here on a special Southern Pacific train Thursday at 7:45 p.m. The Trojans will leave the train at San Jose at 8 a.m. Friday, going out by bus to the Castledown Country club where they will remain in seclusion until just before the game.

The Pacific Coast conference standings at present are as follows:

Saint Grid Grads Rally For Reunion

Santa Ana football men of past and present eras have begun to answer the call to arms. Scores of them are expected Thursday when the first annual high school football reunion is held here at Frances Willard junior high school, North Ross street and Washington avenue, at 6:30 p. m.

Bayard ("Stormy") Swope, a star in 1927, and Jay Baker, another player in the "dark ages" sent word here today they would be on deck for the banquet and fun.

Any person who ever played football for Santa Ana high school—whether he played well, poorly or just plain guard—is invited.

Reservations should be made in advance, however, so committeemen may know for how many to prepare. Dinner tickets, selling for 50 cents, may be obtained at Victor Walker's sporting goods store or from Committeemen "Tex" Oliver and W. K. Hillyard.

COAST LEAGUE BASKET SEASON BEGINS JAN. 8

Basketball will run only three weeks in the Coast Preparatory league next year, the shortest season in the history of the conference. Play will begin Friday night, January 8, and close Friday, January 29.

In previous years the hoop season has been extended over a period of approximately two months which frequently seriously interfered with the championship prospects of one or more schools, a break between the first and second terms of study invariably making certain players "nine semester men."

A short schedule also will free for track and baseball many athletes who have had slow starts in these sports in other years because they were tied up with basketball.

The cage schedule follows:

January 8—Pasadena at San Diego; Glendale at Fullerton; Long Beach at Alhambra; Santa Ana, bye.

January 12—Fullerton at Pasadena; Santa Ana at San Diego; Alhambra at Glendale; Long Beach, bye.

January 15—Pasadena at Santa Ana; Glendale at Long Beach; Alhambra at Fullerton; San Diego, bye.

January 19—Glendale at Pasadena; Santa Ana at Glendale; Alhambra at San Diego; Fullerton, bye.

January 22—Long Beach at Pasadena; Santa Ana at Glendale; Alhambra at San Diego; Fullerton, bye.

January 26—Pasadena at Alhambra; San Diego at Long Beach; Fullerton at Santa Ana; Glendale, bye.

SLASH BUDGET. SAVE COLLEGE BASEBALL HERE

Hopes of baseball players on the Santa Ana Junior College campus ran higher today following an announcement by Wilton Hillard, commissioner of men's athletics, that funds for their sport would not be slashed from the budget as had been previously anticipated.

The budget presented to the college board called for $488, which was considered too much for a sport some believed did not warrant the associated student subsidization. Following a working compromise drawn up by Hillard and various coaches, the amount was reduced to $295 and passed by the board, assuring baseball as one of the major sports on this year's program.

At the same time the board passed on the $1281.50 budget requested by Hillard for football, representing a $200 slash in the original amount asked. Funds requested for basketball, $342 originally, were cut to $132. Following a slash from $391 to $325, the budget presented for track was finally accepted.

Figures on the list represented amounts requested for transportation, officials' fees, meals and equipment, which, with the exception of baseball uniforms, was considerably under the amount asked for last year. The budget was unanimously accepted by the board, following the cuts in requested figures.

TUSTIN WINS FROM WILLARD LIGHTIES

By JACK WALLACE
Tustin high school's Class C gridmen tramped on the Frances Willard 110-pounder, 14 to 0, in a practice scrimmage yesterday.

Until the half both teams pushed the ball up and down the field, neither coming very close to scoring territory. Then during the latter part of the third period the Farmers started an accurate passing attack which brought them within a short distance of the goal and Stanley smashed through right tackle for the first score.

Early in the fourth quarter, Pallas, Tustin's dashing halfback, caught a punt and ran 45 yards through a broken field for the second touchdown.

Both times the Farmers failed to convert. However, they made up for it by scoring a safety in the last few minutes of play by blocking a kick behind the goal line. The starting lineup:

De Kuh Wins From 'Dynamite' Jackson

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20.—(UP)—Arthur De Kuh, Italian heavyweight, of Moston, defeated "Dynamite" Jackson, Los Angeles Negro, by a technical knockout in the seventh round of a scheduled 10-round bout here last night.

The Negro's manager tossed in a towel after De Kuh opened a deep cut over Jackson's left eye with a terrific right uppercut.

ALONG THE SIDELINES

(By United Press)
BERKELEY—George Watkins, the half who rushed the Washington State Cougars off their feet, was assigned the heavy work against Southern California today when "Navy Bill" Ingram found that Henry Schildbach's bad wrist will not be needed in time for the big test Saturday. Otherwise California is in shape for the doughty Trojans, and hoping for the best.

PALO ALTO—Three full teams will be taken North Thursday night by Glenn Warner for the Stanford-Washington contest at Seattle. The "shock troops" performed as well against Oregon State that "Pop" may start them again. The Cardinals have no misgivings about the game.

MORAGA—With the best Gonzaga team in years headed for a game with St. Mary's in San Francisco Sunday, Coach "Slip" Madigan spent most of the time today instructing the Gaels in hanging onto the ball. Fumbles at crucial moments made the Gaels look like prep schoolers at times against S. F. U. Sunday.

SANTA CLARA—"Clippers" Smith's scoring machine was out for repairs today with the loss of Bill Denner and Vin O'Donnell, star Santa Clara halves, who were hurt in the Olympic club game. The Broncos must fill the gap before the West Coast Army tilt in San Francisco Friday.

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—The Yale varsity eleven came through the Chicago game without a single injury. Coach Mal Stevens did not give his men a day of rest yesterday, but worked them long and hard more than an hour for the Army Saturday.

LINCOLN, Neb.—Nebraska will have a passing attack ready to use against Kansas Saturday if the Cornhuskers' backs can push over a touchdown through the line.

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—Coach "Hank" Anderson expects one of Notre Dame's hardest games of the season when Pittsburgh invades South Bend Saturday.

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Two of Northwestern's stellar sophomore backs, George Potter and Ollie Olson, are nursing injuries but both are expected to be ready for Ohio State Saturday.

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Athletic Director Fielding Yost has returned to the gridiron, temporarily at least, to help Head Coach Harry Kipke rouse the Michigan football team out of its lethargy in preparation for the Illinois game Saturday at Urbana.

Community Training School Opens In Orange

L. A. CHRISTIAN COLLEGE HEAD GIVES ADDRESS

ORANGE, Oct. 20.—The Orange Community Leadership Training school opened with a banquet at 8:30 o'clock in the dining hall of the First Christian church last evening, with a group of 60 persons interested in the courses present.

The Rev. Franklin H. Minck, dean of the school, presided during the opening assembly program, making the announcements and introducing the speakers and arranged for the different class sessions of the evening. Any pupil missing the first evening may join the class at the next session October 26 and still be able to complete the course closing on November 23, it was announced. Course No. 1 was announced as postponed until the spring school owing to the illness of Doctor Robert Burns McAulay, pastor of the Presbyterian church, who was to have been the teacher of the course.

Elbert Burt, the boy soprano singer, was introduced and sang "Kept for Jesus," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Leon Des Larrea. The young singer responded with another song, "I Love Him So."

The teachers of the different courses were presented. The Rev. L. V. Lucas, pastor of the Orange Methodist church, will teach "The Message and Program of the Christian Religion." Miss Ruth Knowlton, public school teacher and worker in the Fullerton Baptist church, will have charge of the primary department of administration. Mrs. Esther Terry Scriven, former director of religious education in the Orange Methodist church, will have charge of dramatization and pageantry. Rev. Frank V. Stripp, formerly a missionary to the Philippines and now working for the Christian church among the Filipinos in Los Angeles, will talk on world missions.

Dr. C. F. Cheverton, president of California Christian college, Los Angeles, was the banquet speaker of the evening and made a stirring appeal to the teachers of religious classes on the training of the boys and girls of today for their life's work.

The speaker touched on the misleading teaching of the pictures of the screen today on the joy of being free of prohibition in foreign countries and quoted Mrs. Wallace Reid on the movies giving the public what they wanted to see, while those who would want the uplift of good pictures are falling down on the job and not working for the ideal of the screen for good. This is a scientific age in which science does things and produces evidence of what science

GRANDMOTHER QUILTS SHOWN IN CLUBHOUSE

ORANGE, Oct. 20.—Grandmother's days were brought to mind as members and guests of the Orange Woman's club entered the clubhouse yesterday to view the remarkable exhibit of quilts which were hung from two long lines on each side of the clubroom and were displayed on long tables the length of the room and were used as colorful decorations of the stage.

Histories of the old quilts and coverlets were given by their owners, many having been made from cotton or wool grown and spun by their makers long ago.

Mrs. C. F. Rowell brought a quilt made at the colony of the True Inspirationists near Iowa City, Ia. This colony covers 26,000 acres and was established in 1854 by a society founded in Germany in 1790, she explained. The quilt was made by a descendant of Christian Metz, one of the founders of the group.

One of the loveliest quilts was shown by the Misses Flo and Sue Scarritt and had been made by their grandmother, who was the first white child born in Granville, Ohio. The front was English chintz and the cotton in the design was forced in the pattern from the back with a stiletto.

Quilts exhibited by Mrs. Clyde Watson, included three daintily embroidered coverlets made by her grandmother, Mrs. M. E. Lobnow, after she was 80 years old.

Mrs. E. D. Stanley exhibited several beautiful wool coverlets in three colors of wool made by her grandmother.

Crochet coverlets were made by Mrs. Arch Burkett, Mrs. Edgar Chapman, Mrs. Walter Kogler and Mrs. E. S. Ross.

A quilt fashioned by Mrs. Dolores Goodwin contained more than 4000

The Case of the Missing Sandals

By Nancy Barr Mavity

"It is all we need to think about," the officer responded with dignity. "Hear! Hear!" Peter cheered in a stage whisper, then ducked as Oleson turned a withering gaze upon him.

The clattering footsteps of the crew, followed by the measured tread of the first officer, echoed into silence. The crowd of passengers and their friends had melted away. Even the elder Vincent, his upturned face stricken with fatigue and anxiety, finally allowed himself to be led from the empty pier, supported on the arm of the lawyer.

As the hours wore on, only the brightly lighted ship continued to chatter with life, as policemen and reporters banged open cabin doors and thrust inquiring flashlights under the canvas covering of the shrouded automobiles hunched together in the open spaces fore and aft.

"Where the devil would anybody be most likely to hide on a ship? It seems as if we've looked every where—I even caught one of your men peering down a smoke funnel," Peter said as he encountered Oleson in a passageway.

"Everywhere!" Oleson said with massive scorn. "On a combination freighter and passenger boat like this a man could lie low for a month—provided he had somebody to bring him food. Vincent, remember, knows ships in general and this ship in particular. I don't say he's still here, but he could be, easily enough. It'll take several days to examine the hold.

"If he isn't picked up outside, we'll send men on board to go as far as Portland, at least—provided the precious company will allow it," he added bitterly.

"Well, I feel as if I've done my bit sleuthing for the night," Peter said, yawning. "It's after 3 o'clock. I'd like to have a look at Vincent's stateroom, though—I'll be good for a color angle. I notice you've kept the door locked."

"The D. A. locked it as soon as he'd looked in and found that Vincent was gone. He gave me the key. I don't know as there's any reason why you shouldn't go in, though," Oleson hesitated, drawing the key from his pocket and balancing it on the palm of his hand.

"I ran into Graham on his way to the captain's cabin. What he said about the way the police, under the direction of Inspector Oleson, took hold of the situation is going to make a mighty nice play in the Herald tomorrow."

"Blarney!" Oleson snorted. But he laid the key in Peter's outstretched hand.

Peter glanced warily up and down the corridor as he approached the door of the room that had been occupied by Vincent. Having satisfied himself that no other reporter was in sight, he unlocked the door, switched on the light, and turned the key in the lock on the inside.

Methodically he examined the popular magazines that strewed the floor, and sniffed at the tray of food, almost untouched, that lay across the top of the wash basin. The bed was slightly rumpled, but the covers had not been disarranged. Peter stared for a moment at the empty clothes hooks affixed to the back of the door, then stopped and peered under the low bed.

"No clothes at all. No suitcase," he murmured.

"It's a cinch nobody could swim the bay carrying a suitcase. If he was making his getaway from the apartment after the murder, you'd think he'd take his clothes with him. But there wasn't any bag found in the car. Now what the devil has he done with it?"

The question, however, remained unanswered. Peter was about to rise from his knees at the side of the bed when his eyes caught the glimmer of something white just out of reach. Wriggling flat on his stomach, he stretched forward and retrieved a crumpled ball of paper.

"Thrown on the floor, and rolled under. But we'll have a look-see, anyhow," he muttered.

He smoothed the paper on his knee, squinting down at it through his thick glasses.

"I am sorry to do this, but it is the only way," he said. "I hope my father and Captain Marquand will forgive me under the circumstances. Goodbye, Earl Vincent."

Peter re-read the brief sentences several times. A suicide note! So that was what had happened. Vincent had killed himself rather than face capture.

But why had he crumpled the note into a ball and thrown it under the bed? Perhaps he had at the last moment decided against leaving a message—

Peter hastily thrust the sheet of paper into his pocket as voices sounded outside the door.

"The light's on—see it under the door? Hey, there, what's up?"

Peter noiselessly turned the key backward in the lock and flung himself on the bed.

"For the love of Mike!" he called out crossly. "Come on in, fellows. You're welcome to all there is, which is nothing. I've had enough of this story for one night. I'd just stretched out to take a little nap."

"Well, if anything breaks now, it's all yours," Everts remarked magnanimously. "You evening paper guys are lucky. Here we've been fighting like fishwives all night over the one available telephone within half a mile, while you just sit around and soak it all up to write at your leisure."

"Leisure, your eye!" Peter retorted. "You fellows have your story all in and can go to bed. The rest of us have to sit up and write it." "Anybody buzz the captain?" someone asked.

"Buzz a hornet's nest!" Donoho spoke with feeling. "Nothing to say! He's mad as a hatter!"

"Well, he's put himself in rather a hole. The razzing he'll get for refusing to let the police send out a tug won't bear thinking of."

"He refers us to officials of the company." What those sea dogs don't know about playing with the press would make a book. He's in for a rough deal.

"I'm going in," Everts yawned. "Our last edition's been put to bed. It's a cinch nobody'll find anything more tonight."

"I'll see you to the gangplank. I've got to stick around till the first ferry across the bay," Peter seized the opportunity to detach himself from the group that filled Vincent's cabin.

The suicide note was burning a hole in his pocket. The first story of the escape had broken inevitably for the morning papers, but the note would be an exclusive angle of the Herald's own.

They had promised to take Vincent.

Mrs. Mae West, of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 years old and weighed 170 pounds until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 pounds. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."

Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—an 85-cent bottle lasts 4 weeks—you can get Kruschen at Glens & Cannon, McCoy Drug Co., 2 stores, or any drug store in America. If not, joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.

comment on its contents. At last he looked up and faced Peter. "Why didn't you take this to the police?" he said bitterly.

"Because you are the master of the ship. You're the real authority here."

"You wouldn't have thought so, if you'd heard the way that man talked," the captain muttered. The conversation between the district attorney and the captain, Peter reflected, must have been a sulphurous one.

"And because," Peter continued, "I believe you've been placed, most unjustly, in a very difficult position. You had an absolute right to use your own judgment. They're all jumping on you for letting Vincent escape from your custody. I don't know what happened here on board, of course, before he got away. But I believe you had good reason for whatever you did—I believe your judgment was sound. Something altogether unforeseen turned up and proved you were mistaken, and the mistake is likely to cost you pretty dear."

"You're in for severe criticism, if nothing worse. But I believe it was an honest mistake—so honest that, I somehow think, if the clock could be turned back, you'd do the same thing over again."

"You look to me like a man who is bitterly sorry, but you don't look like a man who is afraid, and you don't look like a man who is ashamed," Peter's gray eyes were shining with earnestness.

"You're right," he repeated. "I am sorry. You see—I knew Vincent. It was my fault. I meant it for the best, but it was too much to expect—more than he could stand up under. I didn't realize—" He

CHURCH CLUBS FRATERNITY

WOMEN- THE HOME WEDDINGS FASHIONS HOUSEHOLD

Twentieth Birthday is Occasion for Merry Surprise Party

A recent happy event, which honored the 20th birthday of Miss Katherine Spicer, was held in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Spicer, 514 Orange avenue. The affair was planned by a hostess trio of her intimate friends, and included the Misses Charlene Swartz, Marie Smith, and Mary Ford.

Striking orange and black tally cards were used to add bridge scores, and Fate herself had decreed that the honoree, Miss Spicer, should win the high score. She was rewarded with a handsome deck of playing cards, and Miss Beulah Dodgeon was given a dainty handkerchief for consolation.

Following bridge, a delectable two course menu was served, terminating with a pretty birthday cake, served with fruit jello. The honoree was then presented with an array of lovely gifts.

Those present in addition to the honoree, Miss Katherine Spicer, and the hostesses Mary Ford, Charlene Swartz, and Marie Smith, were the Misses Fay Stinson, Allen Lutz, Rowena Newman, Beulah Dodgeon, Miss Helen Hoff, of Long Beach, and Mrs. Erwin Spicer and daughters, the Misses Dorothy and Eunice Spicer, of the home.

Club Members Follow Bridge With Breakfast

Members of a little bridge club were delightfully entertained this past week by Mrs. Lewis W. Thompson, of Orange, who has hosted at "The Sycamores" in Tustin. The usual bridge session was followed by a dainty breakfast menu, served at tables brightened with fall fruits, autumn leaves and bright-hued tapers.

Those present to share Mrs. Thompson's hospitality were Mrs. Lucien Elippen, Mrs. Edgar M. Chapman, Mrs. Ernest S. Ross, Mrs. H. Smith, Mrs. Earl Crawford and Mrs. Charles Wagner.

Evening Wedding is of Interest to Many in Southland

Of interest to many of the southland was the wedding which took place Saturday evening, October 17 in this city, uniting Miss Ruth Givens and Bordie Harrison, both of Los Angeles. Miss Givens is the daughter of Mrs. Walter Givens of that city.

The ceremony was read in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Jordan, 1620 West Third street, with the Rev. G. P. Haywood, of this city, officiating.

Miss Givens was attractively gowned in a shimmering costume of white velvet, with which she wore a white tulle veil fashioned in cap effect and wreathed with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was an especially lovely one, combining gardenias from Seattle, Wash., lilies of the valley from Oregon, and sweet peas.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Harrison left for a honeymoon near San Bernardino, and in a short time will be at home to their friends at 3813 Chapman avenue in Los Angeles. Both the bride and bridegroom attended U. C. L. A., during which time Mrs. Harrison won three beauty contests and Mr. Harrison was a prominent football player. The bride has spent much time in traveling lately, remaining in eastern cities much of the time.

The little group present at the wedding, included in addition to the bride and bridegroom and the Rev. Mr. Haywood, Mr. and Mrs. Jordan, the bride's mother, and the bride's sister, Mrs. Givens, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Wilda Smith, of this city.

Singer Makes Second Appearance Before Business Women

Mrs. Leontine Redon returned yesterday noon to the women of the Business and Professional Women's club before whom she sang and talked not long ago. Mrs. Redon was generous with her repertoire, which included stately favorites such as "Little Grey Home in the West," "Long, Long Ago" and "Rain," as well as numbers which revealed the artist's vocal gift to the best of its perfection. Miss Ruth Armstrong accompanied Mrs. Redon. The artist teaches at the California Naughton studio in Santa Ana on Mondays, coming here from Los Angeles where she maintains a studio.

The reading of the minutes of the executive board meeting by the secretary, Miss Dorothy Decker, revealed that Mrs. Mildred Rinehart has accepted the office of second vice president left vacant by the resignation of the president several weeks ago.

Miss Lulu Ott, the president, stressed the Southern District convention of Business and Professional Women which will be held in Santa Ana November 14, and asked that the members all hold that date in reserve for their hostess duties of that day.

The president was authorized to appoint a committee to outline a plan for the organization's operation in the Armistice Day parade. Mr. Ben Blow of San Francisco is scheduled to address the women next week. Mr. Blow is a noted writer for travel magazines.

Dinner Precedes Usual Evening Meeting

A meeting of interest was shared this past week by members of Ernest L. Kellogg post and auxiliary, 1680, Veterans of Foreign Wars, who took part in the dinner party held in the Knights of Pythias hall to precede the usual session. Mrs. Geraldine Miller of Los Angeles was hostess at this time.

Mrs. Lida Kincald and her committee served the menu. Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fleckenstein, of Long Beach, who are in charge of the Memory Lane project. Mrs. Fleckenstein gave a worthwhile talk concerning Memory Lane.

Mrs. Irene Miles, chairman of the auxiliary, who has attended all the Memory Lane meetings, was given permission to select the spot for planting one of the first trees on the proposed route at 9 a. m. Armistice day, along with other patriotic organizations.

A short business meeting was in charge of Mrs. W. M. Kelsey, president, and a session of cards followed.

At the next meeting, November 6, installation of officers will take place.

Pretty Home Ceremony Climaxes Romance of Long Standing

A romance which started several years ago in New Mexico was climaxed with marriage Saturday evening, October 17, when Katharine Bennett Jackson and L. M. Wiggins were married in the home of Mr. Wiggins' mother, Mrs. R. H. Barnard, 1238 South Van Ness avenue. The bride has been living in Santa Rosa lately, while Mr. Wiggins has been making his home in Long Beach.

The ceremony was read near an archway of ferns and other greenery, and bouquets of white chrysanthemums, pink carnations and breath of heaven added the floral effect to the decorative scheme. The Rev. Harry Evan Owens, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiated.

Musical numbers preceding the ceremony included "Melody of Love," a piano solo given by Miss Mildred Lukens. James Lukens sang "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" and "I Love You Truly," after which Lohengrin's Wedding March was played for the entry of the bride party.

The bride entered with a friend of the family, N. D. Kuhlman, of San Diego. She was becomingly gowned in a turquoise blue velvet frock with which she carried a bouquet of bride's roses and white carnations. Mrs. A. T. Lacy, of Long Beach, as matron of honor, wore cream lace with touches of pale pink. Her flowers were pink and white sweet peas.

Mr. Wiggins was attended by Ray Klumb of Chino as best man. A reception followed, during which the prettily decorated bride's cake was served with ice cream and other dainties. The menu was served on individual trays, with small courages of pink carnations and breath of heaven serving as favors. Rose glassware was used.

Late in the evening, refreshments of salad, sandwiches and cakes were served, all of the delicious menu having been provided by the thoughtful guests. In addition to this, presented Mr. and Mrs. Gatz with many handsome gifts for their new home. Flowers, too, were given to the honored guests, and were attractively arranged to form a colorful background for the evening's play.

Those present, other than Mr. and Mrs. Gatz, were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lewis, of Costa Mesa, and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Markwood, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Mitchell, Mrs. J. H. Thompson and Mrs. Minnie Blakesly.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Getting Away From Charity

In doing your part to help relieve hunger and misery during this time of business depression, don't do it with that "I am holier than thou" feeling. It is a PRIVILEGE to do your part, something you owe to your neighbor-at-large for whatever good has come your way. So please don't go Galahad-ing around with your head in the clouds... poor people still have feelings and the odor of charity smells to them like something less sweet than a rose.

It is to get away from indiscriminate foolish charity that I made the suggestion yesterday that if you could spare a few dimes or nickels a week, give them to your grocer or butcher to add a little extra to the small amounts poor but proud people buy with their thin nickels.

Where to get your extra dimes and nickels is the question you and I are interested in right now. Most of you belong to some sort of club—bridge, sewing, or reading club. And of course you always serve some nice little thing to eat. Why not dispense with the usual spread and serve tea (or coffee) and toast? The toast you can glorify by making it cinnamon or orange butter toast. If you don't belong to a club, you go to movies, you ride on the street car, or you drive your own car. Do with one less show a week, and walk more, and you can make your small contribution with little trouble.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Barbecued Ham

1 large slice ham
Sliced boiled ham
1 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon black pepper
1 teaspoon French mustard
3 tablespoons vinegar

For a change try this way of serving ham... the eggs can be done in another pan in butter or bacon fat and served with the ham, or on a smaller platter.

Put some bacon fat and bits of the ham fat into a skillet, heat well, put in the sliced ham, turn on both sides quickly, then reduce the heat,

MAHONEY'S FUN FROLIC OPENS AT WEST COAST

Eddie Mahoney and his Fun Frolic, which kept West Coast theater audiences in a happy mood throughout most of last winter has been booked into the city again this season and will stage his first adreshow tomorrow night.

Plans for the opening night call for all kinds of entertainment on the stage, in connection with the regular feature picture, "Bad Company," starring Ricardo Cortez and Helen Twelvrees.

Aside from the adreshow, the prizes won by babies in the recent Register-Neely-Fox theaters baby contest will be presented to the mothers, and winners in the recent Serene-Fulkerson shoe contest also are to get their prizes from the stage during the hour's entertainment.

Mahoney is funnier than ever this year and has a long line of gags worked up for the current attractions which will be seen on the stage of the theater every Wednesday night until further notice. It was announced by Norman Sprowl, Fox theater manager.

"We are going to have a real show tomorrow night and have made lots of arrangements for the show which should be the best fun frolic we have ever had," he said.

needed and when the ham seems cooked put slices of pineapple on it on continue broiling until the pineapple sizzles along the edges. Serve this for dinner some night, with creamed potato and some sort of a green vegetable... it's quite nice enough for a "company" dinner.

Some folks seem to think that rutabagas are grown for the special benefit of cows... just the same, mashed rutabagas is one vegetable that takes the gold-plated skillet in my estimation. Eat more of these common vegetables to reduce cost of living. For various ways of cooking them you are invited to mail me a stamp, self-addressed envelope in which I will send you the current leaflet—Cooking Winter Vegetables.

COMING TOMORROW

Ricardo Cortez and Helen Twelvrees have the leading roles in "Bad Company," which comes to the Fox West Coast theater tomorrow.

'SUSAN LENOX' BEST OF LATE GARBO FILMS

Greta Garbo achieves the finest performance of her career as the heroine of "Susan Lenox, Her Fall and Rise," which is playing at the Fox Broadway theater as a new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer offering.

The new Garbo picture, which further introduces the striking Clark Gable as a romantic hero, packs more action and visual entertainment than any other talking picture this reviewer has seen since the first musicals. It moves at a swift pace, sweeps forward at a rapid tempo with fast-changing transitions that keep the interest ever kindled with fresh expectations.

The supporting cast is particularly fine, including such players as Jean Hersholt, John Miljan, Alan Hale, Hale Hamilton, Hilda Vaughn, Russell Simpson, Cecil Cunningham and Ian Keith.

'SHOW OF SHOWS' REVIVAL TONIGHT

"Show of Shows," the wonder picture made by Warner Brothers last year, will be the revival film to show at the Fox West Coast theater tonight with the regular feature picture, "Sidelwalks of New York," starring Buster Keaton.

The revival picture will be screened at about 8:30 p.m. It was announced, between the first and second regular shows.

Containing all of the stars of the Warner Brothers studio in short sketches, there are some 50 well known picture stars in the pictures, including Winnie Lightner and Joe E. Brown, and scores of others.

PROHIBITION FILM OPENS AT WALKERS

The really great dramas of stage and screen have always carried a strong moral lesson. That is the reason for their continued existence as popular favorites over a long period of years. While the all talking picture, "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," which opens tonight at Walker's State theater for a three-day run, is purely entertainment of a very dramatic nature, it should be called temperance picture rather than a Prohibition picture.

Brought up to the days just before Prohibition, this modern version of a seventy year old stage classic brings back the colorful days of the saloon with startling realism. It tells a story of compelling interest, with a strong moral punch which is vitally concerned in today's wet and dry question.

"Ten Nights in a Bar Room," starring William Farnum and a brilliant supporting cast is a powerful argument against the return of the saloon. The great lesson which springs from the very realism of its stark drama attacks the saloon and whiskey with tremendous force. It bears out the true attitude of a great majority of confirmed wets who cannot honestly say that the saloon should come back any more than the ultra-drys should say that we should not have beer and light wines.

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

"That instrument you're looking at is really rather strange, at that," replied the kindly Travel Man. But it is sweet to hear. Way, I could hark to one all day. I'll tip the man so he will play. Now, if you want to watch him, all you Tinkies gather near."

"First tell us what they call it. Gee, how it makes music I can't see," said Clowny. Then the Travel Man said, "It's a miramba, son. With those long sticks he taps the thing and that's what makes the clear notes ring. It's rather hard to play it, though it looks like lots of fun."

And then he tipped the man and said, "We want some music. Go ahead and show the boys what you can do. Perhaps they'll dance, or sing." So right away the man began. Across the board his long sticks ran. The low notes sounded just like "pong," the high notes just like "ping."

One song was finished. Then the man said, "Do a dance step if you can." He started in to play again and Clowny cried, "Watch Me!" He did a tap dance very quick. The man exclaimed, "Say, that was slick! I like to play for you, son. You're as clever as can be."

The others tried some dance steps, too. The Travel Man then said, "Well, you have had enough of this boys. Now let's take a trolley ride. A strange old engine pulls a car, and, though it doesn't travel far, I'm sure that you will all enjoy the trip when once it's tried."

They found the engine right near by and Copy shouted, "My, oh my! That surely is a funny sight. Here's where we have some fun." Hop on, the man who ran began. Across the board his long sticks ran. The low notes sounded just like "pong," the high notes just like "ping."

Yorba Linda Farm Center Re-Elects Officers

4-H MEMBERS GIVE PROGRAM MONDAY NIGHT

YORBA LINDA, Oct. 20.—Yorba Linda 4-H club, under direction of Eric Eastman, county adviser, and the local leaders presented the program at the farm center meeting last night.

Eastman and George Kellogg, director from Yorba Linda to the Orange County Farm bureau, each said Yorba Linda 4-H is leader in Orange county and that Orange county leads the state in the work.

At the business meeting, which followed dinner, and preceded the program, all officers were re-elected. They are Austin Marshburn, who presided last night, president; C. W. Morris, vice president; P. J. Ton, secretary, and George Kellogg, director. The nominating committee was J. E. Lewis, Willis Van Cleave and Ben Selover.

Eastman gave a short resume of the 4-H program at Yorba Linda, telling of the start five years ago under A. J. Morris and George Quigley, and of the present status that incorporates two boys' and two girls' clubs.

Homer May, Morris and B. J. Foss are advisers of the younger groups of boys, known as the Cloverleaf club; O. J. Dyckman and F. W. Schulte are advisers of the older group of boys, the Councilor club; Mrs. Nofie Reneker is adviser of the Willing Worker Girls' club; Mrs. Nofie Reneker is adviser of the Willing Worker Girls' club.

Homer May, speaking briefly on the 4-H work, declared it the outstanding community enterprise.

George Kellogg said he thought the incentive for work among boys and girls started in 1921 in a "Chicken club." A certain fund of money left in the bank and reported on by A. P. Yerlington as belonging to the "Chicken club" may be added to the 4-H club fund, Kellogg said.

Gilbert May, Yorba Linda youth, will speak over the national hook-up on 4-H work November 7. It is the second time May has been chosen to speak.

Girls appearing on the program were Geraldine Yaeger, Yvonne French, Sarah Allbee, Marguerite Harwood, Viola Reneker, Jean Reneker, Fern Reneker, Ynez Navarro, Marilyn Chapman of the Willing Worker group and Betty McDavid of the Flower Girl group. Betty told of their work and the larger group gave a playlet in which they used chickens, geese and pigeons. They displayed some of their handwork, also.

The boys who appeared for the groups were boys who went to Davis to the summer conference. Roy Martin talked on the classes at Davis; Albert Yerlington told of the Sacramento state fair; Earl Emde, who with George Gidding, has 400 hives of bees, told of the work of raising bees, and how he fore coming he had distributed 40 new queens.

Leonard Scott talked on "Leadership." Clifford Emde on the "Tours of 1931" taken by club boys and Homer Schulte read a paper on avocados he had read at the Western States conference at Santa Ana.

SPOONS OF ALL NATIONS SHOWN IN COSTA MESA

COSTA MESA, Oct. 20.—A collection of souvenir spoons, 164 in number, collected by Mrs. C. D. Taylor, of Balboa, during her travels around the world, has been placed in the Costa Mesa bank windows by Manager F. A. Gayden Jr. There are spoons from 55 European places representing England, Ireland, Scotland, Wales, Switzerland, Germany, Italy, France, Mexico, Sweden, Denmark, Canada and Lapland. Most of the European spoons have enameled bowls done in exquisite colorings with the scenes or faces being unusually distinct.

The largest spoon in collection has a bowl three inches long and two inches wide and it comes from Lapland, having been made especially for Mrs. Taylor. A practice for killing deer, by sticking with a knife, and leaving the knife inserted until the animal slowly bleeds to death, seemed to be the rule. The chief of a certain tribe wanted a picture of Mrs. Taylor. She consented to give the picture if he would promise to stop this cruel practice of killing the deer in this manner. The chief made this peculiar spoon as a token of the promise he made to her to stop this method of killing.

The remaining spoons represent every large city and every state in the United States. An agricultural exhibit is shown in the second window space. Sweet potatoes, three in number, each weighing nine pounds, and approximately a foot in length, with a diameter of about nine inches, are being shown.

These huge sweet potatoes were grown by F. T. Fair, of Fullerton avenue, the place formerly known as the J. R. Walker place, the former home of one of Costa Mesa's pioneers.

GROCERIES, CASH SOUGHT BY BEACH CITY WELFARE LEAGUE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 20.—The Welfare league, composed of the heads of the various civic organizations and luncheon clubs of the city, met last night at chamber of commerce headquarters, Fifth and Ocean. Mrs. May S. Jackson, store keeper for the league, had quite a stock of goods on display. Mrs. Jackson asked for more groceries, as people have appealed to her during the past few days who were threatened with starvation and were actually hungry. One man who went to work on a bean threshing job fainted at work. Investigation revealed he had not eaten for two days.

The Welfare league will place "prosperity" barrels at grocery stores, at churches and on street corners to receive donations. The donations will be taken daily to the common storehouse where people in need are urged to apply. Willis H. Warner, treasurer of the league, reported donations of cash and it was decided that cash donations should be made to the treasurer at the Warner hardware store.

Members of the league will divide the city and will make regular visits to the homes where help is needed and keep in close touch with the relief work situation until the city's unemployment problem is solved. There are 200 unemployed men in the city and 60 recently put on part time employment by the city. Those in need and who have been residents of Huntington Beach for a year are urged to make their needs known.

MOCK WEDDING IS STAGED IN STANTON HOME

STANTON, Oct. 20.—Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Bumgardner, of Garden Grove road, gave a party recently in honor of their daughter, Edna, and her fiancé, Robert L. Amshury, who will soon be married.

The home was attractively decorated with roses. Cathrine Miller and Mable Bumgardner assisted in serving a luncheon. The favors were little traveling bags filled with candles and salted nuts in which was concealed the story of the romance of the honored couple, written in couplets.

A mock wedding was held, with Mable Bumgardner at the piano whistling accompaniment to "I Love You Truly," after which she swung into the wedding march. Bertha Hodgkinson took her place as minister. The bride couple then entered, halting under a cowbell trimmed with large white bows for a wedding bell. The groom was Ethel Rice, bride, Pearl Morgan; best man, Alma Shackelford; bridesmaid, Cathrine Miller. After the wedding the story of their honeymoon trip was read with the guests filling in the blank spaces. Miss Bumgardner has received many handsome and useful gifts and these were on display and admired by the guests.

Besides the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Bumgardner and the honorees, Miss Bumgardner and Robert Amshury, others who enjoyed the event were Emerson Stanley, Robert Nichols, Victor Rood, Rush Bumgardner, Wendel Newsom, Cathrine Miller, Pearl Morgan, Bertha Hodgkinson, Mabel Bumgardner, Ethel Rice, Muriel King, Alma Shackelford and Lucile Shackelford.

The suggestion was presented at the chamber of commerce meeting at the Golden Bear cafe yesterday noon.

The cover will be made by a Los Angeles firm.

The Cauldron staff for this school term is as follows: Charlotte Fulton, editor; Arthur Frost, business manager; Associate Editors, Betty Eldridge, Orville Plumlee, Roberta Chammers, Velma Jean Jones, Mary Koenig, Miss Marguerite Bliss, instructor in English, will be the advisor to the staff.

AUXILIARY PLANS STUDY, DRAMA CLUB

BUENA PARK, Oct. 20.—The newly formed Junior auxiliary of the Woman's club met Friday evening, deciding to have a drama and study club. Carol Battelle was chosen as publicity chairman, and Grace Fenton as pianist. Mrs. Geneva Greenwalt was asked to assist in drafting a constitution. The next meeting will be in the form of a pot luck dinner followed by the business meeting. It will be held November 6.

BOARD DELAYS ACTION ON NEW WATER SYSTEM

PLACENTIA, Oct. 20.—After considerable discussion of the Placentia domestic water question and the supply and cost of water as served by the American States Water company, Placentia city councilmen last night agreed to take no further action until they have heard what H. V. Anderson, general superintendent of the company, has to say.

Albert Launer, city attorney, spoke on the water situation and commended Brea for its municipally owned plant.

In connection with the water question, councilmen voted to grant a request of the Placentia American Legion post to place a fire hydrant near the Legion hall on Bradford avenue. The post agreed to pay half the cost of installation and half the maintenance cost.

A letter was read from Mrs. W. W. Blackmer asking city authorities to prohibit dumping of trash on her vacant property in the city.

No action was taken on entry of Placentia in an Armistice day parade at Santa Ana November 11.

A. Ippen, senior member of the board, presided for Mayor C. E. Halber, absent. Others present were C. C. Curtis, A. G. Schalles, C. R. Young, trustees, and Mrs. Nellie Cline, clerk, and Albert Launer, attorney.

MORE AMIABILITY

Today the news dispatches bring a little relief over conditions in the Far East.

Japan has withdrawn its objection to American participation in the League of Nations deliberations over Manchuria. The notification of this was given to our Secretary of State by the Chinese ambassador yesterday.

This does not mean that Japan believes that the invitation to the United States to participate in this conference was right, from the standpoint of the League of Nations. But the implication of the position which Japan assumed in respect to it, from the United States' point of view, was making things exceedingly embarrassing.

There can be no doubt but that this conference, in which the United States is participating, is not strictly a League of Nations council meeting. If it were, the United States has no right there. It is simply a meeting of the nations, composed of the members of the council, plus the United States, to confer upon a most serious question which has arisen between two members of the League.

The United States has been invited to participate naturally because of her importance, her interest in the Kellogg-Briand Peace Pact, her interest in China, and her relationship with Japan.

They have had their conference; the action of the council of course was not participated in by the United States, and the decision has been, as a matter of fact, that the world powers should appeal independently to China and Japan to observe their obligations under the peace pact. The news declares that it is indicated that Japan will look to Washington as mediator in her quarrel with China.

This certainly would be not only a fine gesture at this time by Japan, in the light of the severity with which she denounced American participation in the conference at Geneva, but it would be a gracious way to insure a just appraisal of the facts, the protection of her interests, and at the same time the prevention of any humiliation whatever.

In the long run, Japan has as much to lose by not pursuing its course arrogantly and independently as any other nation. Japan cannot afford to do it, and incidentally, the other nations in the League and out cannot afford to have her do it.

In a way the United States occupies a rather anomalous position in this controversy. Under the traditions growing out of the Monroe Doctrine, the prerogative of our determining what is right and what is wrong in the attitude of our South American neighbors, we have not brooked suggestion or interference by other nations.

With a knowledge of this, and with the assumption that she occupies relatively the same position in the Far East that the United States does here, Japan might well become impatient over our presumption to decide what and how things shall be done there.

It is entirely possible that in this shrinking world, with the interests of the nations growing so complex, and the ability to counsel instantly with other nations so complete, the Monroe Doctrine will have to be considerably modified in its application to relationships in the Western hemisphere, if we would gain or maintain the influence which we may rightfully claim on controverted matters in other sections of the world.

MR. EDISON AND MONEY

Allusion was made a short time ago to the fact that Mr. Edison was a comparatively poor man. Some very interesting reasons for that comparative poverty, in view of the wonderful opportunities the inventor had to make fortunes, are evident when we read the life of Edison. When he was a young man of 21 he became interested in a project to extract the magnetite ores of New Jersey to be the basis of a great steel industry in that region. It was a remarkable engineering task, and proved to be eminently successful. But the ore could not be put on the market as cheaply as the Lake Superior ores, and Edison lost all he put into it. Years after he and his friend were walking together, and he asked what General Electric was quoted at that day. The friend figured it out, and found that the amount of the stock he had sunk in the above mentioned project would then be worth about four million dollars. "Well," said Edison with a twinkle in his eye; "it's all gone, but we had a hell of a good time spending it."

At another time he was offered $100,000 for an invention, and he asked that it might be paid to him in $6000 installments for seventeen years, entirely oblivious of the item of interest. At still another time he was offered "30,000" by cable for a certain invention, and he was surprised when a draft came to him for 30,000 pounds sterling, approximately $175,000, rather than $30,000. That was characteristic of the inventor. Money was an entirely secondary matter. His contriving work was his life and his supreme interest.

This has been characteristic of many inventors. The story is told of Captain Ericson that he was much more interested in doing his own drafting, just for the joy of it, and leave other valuable work undone, than to leave it to a draftsman who could do it just as well at very much less expense. The man who invented the so-called "nigger-head" machine, which revolutionized the shoe industry, a Dutch Guianan Negro, distributed hundreds of thousands of valuable shares of stock to any one who cared to take them, although he was a poor man himself.

All of which goes to prove that for many a man money-making is a bore. They would rather have the joys of contrivance and expectancy than the joys which money is supposed to bring. And this has been markedly characteristic of inventors.

Sentenced to 90 days, a Chicago gunman broke into tears. He might forget how many notches he had on his gun and have to start all over.

WOMEN'S FARMS IN MEXICO

In Mexico the other day the National Congress of Women Workers and Peasants approved a governmental project—no less an one than a collective farm to be operated and worked entirely by women.

The land will be donated by the government. A managing board will be appointed by the congress. The Department of Public Education will assign feminine experts in poultry and other classes of farming to instruct the workers.

This first farm is planned as a model. In a few years there may be many similar institutions in Mexico which state governments will be called upon to sponsor.

It is an interesting project. In the light of the mental achievements of women there is little novelty in the project on that score. The collective activity of women is one of the interesting and best tried angles.

As to the nature of the work, there is not much cause to wonder, though it is a bit unusual.

Travelers abroad, particularly in the Balkan States are wont to comment and pity the poor women laboring in the fields. But the labor in the fields, it is conceivable, is more enjoyable to many of them than the labor within the home. Out of doors they can hear the birds and feel the warmth of the sunshine and see the clouds and the hills and possibly work with companions. But within there are four walls enclosing and the tasks are not all more pleasant or easier than the ones in the fields. Then there is the difference in the nature of the women, just as there is difference in men. Some would much prefer to be out of doors; others like best the tasks within.

This experiment in Mexico will be watched with considerable interest for several different reasons.

Aged 102, a grand sachem of Tammany is retiring. Politically he probably could sachem with the best.

FINGER NAILS

One of the new wrinkles, displayed by a girl in a picture in the news, is fingernails decorated with the playing card figures, spade, clubs, diamonds, hearts.

They shoot people in Texas, so the saying goes, for what could be done ever so easily with such fingers as those. The style will never be popular; one just does like to have the outward appearance of being honest, anyhow.

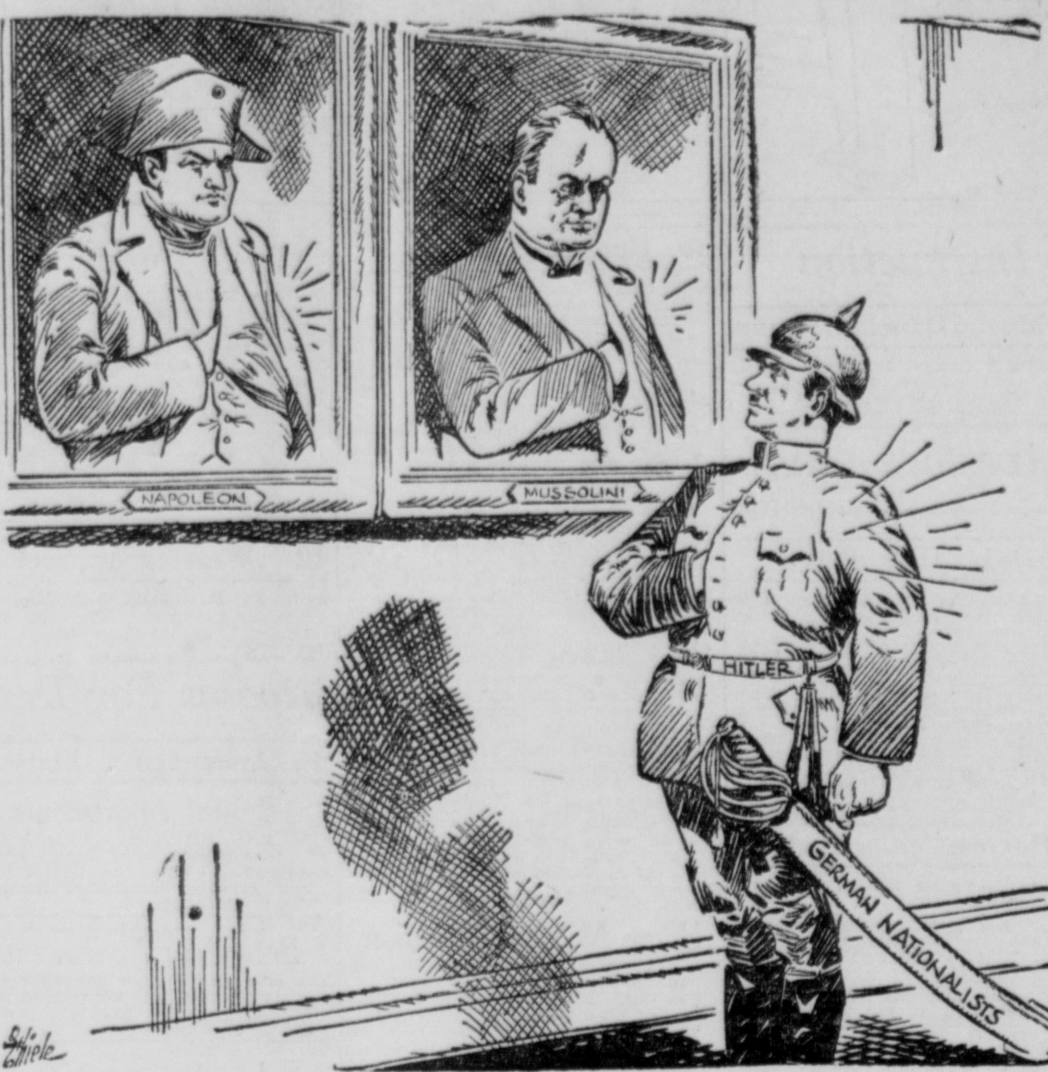

Honorable Mention

New York Times

In the course of years Los Angeles has discovered that the boasted California climate is not an unmixed blessing. Sunshine may be health-giving and delightful, but is not enough to live on. A little more rainfall, while it might hurt the tourist trade, would come in handy for the slaking of thirst and the watering of gardens. There was a time when the city was ringed about by a great artesian belt from which waters gushed. But as the wells increased in number the water level dropped, and salt water from the ocean began to seep in ominously. Promptly, and with characteristic enterprise, the city tapped the Owens River, 250 miles away, and by that means secured a supply sufficient for a population of 2,000,000 people. Since it already has 1,238,048, and is still growing, it has been casting about lately for a new source of supply for the added millions with which it expects to team a decade or two hence.

Here we have one of the reasons for Boulder Dam. If they could store and tap the waters of the Colorado, Los Angeles and her sister cities of Southern California thought their problem would be solved. All they would have to do would be to build another aqueduct two or three hundred miles through the desert and pump the water over the mountains, using Boulder Dam power for that purpose. The magnitude of the project might have daunted a less hardy or even a less confident race. For the aqueduct with its appurtenances will cost $200,000,000 to build, and the interest on that sum will be $8,000,000 a year, let alone expenses of maintenance, operation and amortization. Los Angeles has been growing at an amazing rate lately—211 per cent between 1900 and 1910, 81 per cent between 1910 and 1920, 115 per cent between 1920 and 1930—but she can hardly expect to continue piling up thirty people at that speed indefinitely. And yet so buoyant are her hopes and so contagious her enthusiasm that she and her sister cities of the Metropolitan Water District approved the $200,000,000 bond issue the other day by a vote of 5 to 1. If the district actually embarks on this extraordinary venture of faith, it will serve its needs for generations to come.

The Age-Old "Itch"

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

OVERDOING IT

Or Taking Science Too Seriously
When our costly canary neglected to sing
As much as the tiniest trill,
But sat round all day with a droop to his wing
And a pitiful half-open bill,
We thought he was lacking the right sort of a seed
And day by day altered his diet.
But although he guzzled the new kind of feed
He still remained sullen and quiet.
And never so much as a small plaintive squeak
Emerged from his formerly musical beak.

Then a scientist friend who observed him one day
With a learned and technical gaze,
Observed that he soon would be singing all day
If we shot him with actinic rays.
"Such rays stir the atoms to action," he said,
"They waken his hunger for song.
Shower them at night from his feet to his head
And he soon will sing all the day long.
The sounds which from man or canary bird surge
Are merely a form of electrical urge."

So we bought a machine, which we placed by his cage,
And sprayed him with volts day and night.
And inside of a week he began to engage
In a voluble musical flight.
But instead of basking himself to his roost
When the shadows of evening came on
The pent up emotions within him were loosed
Through the midnight and on to the dawn.
His art for a fortnight he steadily plied
Till he ran himself utterly ragged and died.

Uncommon Sense

BY JOHN BLAKE

MEN'S "BEST HOLT"

"I callate my boy Bill ought to be sent to Boston an' put in one of them physical schools," said the old farmer to me, as together we watched the young American referred to engage in a wrestling match with a very large and red-faced neighbor.
"Bill ain't so strong, nor so big, but he's got the best holt of any boy in this section, and it strikes me that was'lin ought to be his job. They say they're lots of money into it."
"Has Bill got any other 'holts' beside wrestling ones?" I asked.

"Oh, yes, he's a good hard working boy, knows what's to be done an' can do a heap of it, but he ain't so far ahead of any of others in anything as he is in was'lin an' he might make hisself famous at it."

I told the farmer something I knew about wrestlers and their reputations and strongly advised him to have the boy wash up and go to an agricultural school.

Five years later I went back to the same old farm, and hardly recognized it. New buildings, shining with white paint, appeared where the old ones stood before, there was a silo behind the barn, the creek was dammed and harnessed to a dynamo whose current lighted the farm buildings, and young orchards had been planted in the fields that were too stony to be ploughed and sowed with grain.

The old farmer was still around, but looking more spruce and competent.

"You was right about Bill's best holt," he said. "It's farmin', just plain farmin'."

"They learned him down to the school that runnin' a place like this could be a lot more interestin' than was'lin, if he put his mind to it, and he done it."

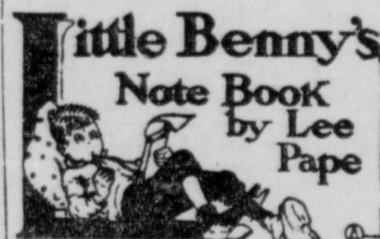

"Me, I'm takin' more interest in it myself, and do twice as much work as I used to, though it's kind of shamin' to have my boy Bill tell me what to do. But I been buyin' books and studyin' 'em too, and maybe he won't be able to do it much longer."

I liked the expression "best holt," and I was glad Bill had discovered that his consisted in something besides a muscle match with another husky boy.

There is nothing the greatest prize fighter can do which cannot be done more effectively by a bear or a tiger, nothing that any man can do physically without finding himself beaten by an animal with perhaps a thousandth part of his reasoning power.

Find your "best holt" if you can, and stick to it.
By and by you will find that work can be even more fascinating than any kind of physical contest, and that there is more pleasure and usually more profit in running a farm successfully than in holding other men down on the mat till you get a decision.

Pop got another letter from ma today, saying Well Wilyum im still here but I assure you the situation is drawing to a speedy close. The fact is I cant live in personal proximity with a person so biased that they can only see side of a question. Brave men gave their life and a lot of their time to prove that the earth is round, so what rite have we to refuse to admit that other people have their sides?

My sister Fanny has an obsession to the effect that its a waist of words to discuss any child except her little Herbit. As a guest in her house I dont mind listening to one or 2 of Herbit's allegedly brite doings or sayins, but as the grandmother of a really exceptional child such as our Gladdies little Willie I feel that I have my rites.

To give you a passing example of a continuous state of affairs, Fanny was taking me for a drive in her little year before last car, and I started to tell her about Willie's exploit with the plummer. You remember, how he watched the plummer fixing the tub, and the plummer keep whisseling as he worked, till finely Willie spoke up and said, Birdie, birdie.

Well, id only got as far as the plummer whisseling when Fanny rudely broke in and said, Speeking of plumbers, reminds me of the time Herbit pertended to smoke his father's pipe, of course it wasent reely lighted but it was a very strong pipe and he must of been drawing on it for some little time, and the moment he was rescued from it the first thing he said was, Sick. And he was, Pawleen, Fanny said, he was reely quite ill, it was one of the cutest things he ever said.

And thats the way it went, Wilyum, every time I started to tell her of some reely clever doings or sayings of Willie's she interrupted me to relate some wild goose story about Herbit that a child of his age should reely of been ashamed to say or do, till finely she started in on a whole flow of them without even waiting for something to interrupt, untill in sheer self defited I pertended to be asleep for the remainder of the so called plezure drive.

Well Wilyum such is life I suppose, your distant neer relation Pawleen.

A mass meeting for the purpose of discussing a plan for action in controlling the Santa Ana river will be held at Riverside November 16. Residents of Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties are invited to attend.

One carload of walnuts to the value of $12,300 has been shipped out from the packing house of the Santa Ana Valley Walnut Growers' association, establishing the highest value for a single carload ever shipped out of Santa Ana.

Fire last night destroyed a large barn, 69 tons of hay, two buggies and a number of sets of harness at the Wakeham home on Tustin avenue.

Thoughts On Modern Life

GANDHI LOOKS AT THE WEST

Mahatma Gandhi, in the ascetic simplicity of his loincloth, motor-ing back and forth between the slims of London and the statement of England, is a picturesque figure, perhaps the greatest single personal force in the modern world.

Yesterday I promised to try to interpret his feelings about the machine civilization of the west.

The mahatma is a milder St. George challenging the dragon of western industrialism.

He is skeptical of our attempts to domesticate this dragon, for he thinks it inherently and incorrigibly anti-humanistic.

His social pacifism prevents his advising its destruction by violence; he is content to advise his countrymen to hold themselves aloof from its appeal and, in a machineless India, to preserve unbroken the India of the spirit so that, when we westerners return repentant from our sinful orgy in inhuman industrialism, we may find it there to drink from.

In Gandhi's judgment, a machine civilization will continue, in its maturity as in its adolescence, to mean the following things:

The excessive centralization of industry in great cities where congestion breeds its ugly offspring and the human spirit bruises itself against an unfriendly environment.

A narcotic monotony of factory routine that turns masters of tools into servants of machines.

An over-speeding that leaves men spiritually spent.

A mass production that puts quantity above quality.

A standardization of processes and products that stamps its sterile sameness upon men's characters as well as upon men's commodities.

A subtle conspiracy against beauty that makes ugliness and utility interchangeable terms.

I need not say that I disagree with the Mahatma's sweeping prophecy of the future of machine civilization.

The machine is man's greatest potential tool for emancipation. But its misuse in the past has produced the results that Gandhi unjustifiably projects into the future.

I am glad, however, for Gandhi's gadfly ministry, for he may help us not to misuse the machine in the future as we have in the past. (Copyright, 1931, McClure Newspaper Syn)

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

WANTING

Little children are a bundle of wants. They want everything they see and a lot they dream about. This is irritating, not to say embarrassing at times. One hates to keep saying, No, no, no all day long. Of course sometimes one says Yes, but the stream of wants flows on just as if nothing had happened.

There is a good side to this wanting. It would never do to have no wants. If a child never reached for anything but what he had he would not grow. It is by wanting and working toward his wants that a child makes his growth. A certain amount is necessary.

We have to teach a child that there are only a few things that he really wants. That is, a few things that he really needs. A true want is a feeling of real need. False wants are passing whims, of no value to the growth of the child.

The difference between a real want and a false one is not clear to a child. Hunger for food is a real want but a hunger for unlimited sweets is a false one. A child must have a few simple toys but the desire to own a toyshop is strong and compelling while it lasts.

The best way to teach a child to keep his wants within reason is to limit what he can have to the few things he needs. He must depend upon your good judgment, your example for his guidance. How good are these characteristics of yours? Do you want so many things that your house is cluttered, your day burdened with them? How many bridge lamps, end tables, candlesticks, bits of old glass do you own? Have you space and peace in house? Are you content with enough or are you forever craving more? How essential are your wants? Have you, the mature, grown up person, been able to shift from the concrete material things to the intangible good of the spirit?

If you have not, then you'd better begin to train yourself to that end. The things we need are few. All of us have too many. If we try to give the children what makes them happy, keeps them actively employed, we are leading them to a good start. We need space in our lives. We need time for thinking. We need opportunity for spiritual growth. If we devote our time and energy to acquiring things we are not going to have the time and the space that we need. We shall find the sunset of our day falling upon us before we have set our houses in order.

In these days when all of us feel pinched for spending money we have a good chance to teach the children that they need only a few simple things. A ball and a book, a bit of fruit, a trip into the woods on foot, offer joy to healthy children. Simple clothes well cared for, simple food eaten with relish, making what one has do the work rather than shopping for a precious detail, will enrich the character of the child who experiences them. Not that I cheer for hard times and for poverty, but I believe in the beauty and health of simplicity.

We in America, as a people, are not poor. We have plenty even in times of distress. If we could only learn to make intelligent use of it. Let's begin by teaching our children to restrict their wants to the few simple pleasures and necessities within their reach. We will all profit.

On Tuesday, October 20, German warships bombarded Dunkirk and German raiders sank two British destroyers and nine merchant ships.

No civilian casualties were reported in Dunkirk.

Sinking of the ships by the German raiders took place in the North Sea between the Shetland Islands and the Norwegian coast.

England's losses for the week ending October 20 included 17 ships of over 1600 tons.

Meantime the British began an enveloping movement northeast of Bagdad and drove the Turkish forces in the vicinity of Kizil-Robot across the Diala river.

On this date President Wilson issued a proclamation specifying Sunday, October 28, as a day of prayer for war success, and asked his "countrymen to observe the appointed day, according to their several faiths, in solemn prayer that God's blessing may rest upon the high task which is laid upon us, to the end that the cause for which we give our lives and treasure may triumph and our efforts be blessed with high achievement."
